2.2 Inter-corporate Relationships

The following chart sets out our corporate structure. We have omitted certain subsidiaries, each of which represents not more than 10% of our consolidated assets and not more than 10% of our consolidated operating revenues, and all of which, in the aggregate, represent not more than 20% of our consolidated assets and not more than 20% of our consolidated operating revenues.

3. DESCRIPTION OF OUR BUSINESS

Founded in Montréal 36 years ago, Transat has achieved worldwide recognition as a provider of leisure travel. Known for operating as an air carrier under the Air Transat brand, Transat also consists of specialist tour operators and other entities in the retail distribution of holiday travel packages. Its full offerings include products and services for exploring a multitude of international destinations, mainly in Europe and the Caribbean, with growth ambitions in South America and North Africa.

Transat is headquartered in Montréal, with places of business in France and the United Kingdom, as well as the Caribbean. Its airline, Air Transat, is an important part of the Montréal-Trudeau (YUL) and Toronto Pearson (YYZ) airport platforms. Transat employs over 5,000 individuals who share the same purpose: reducing the distances that separate us.

Voted World's Best Leisure Airline by passengers at the 2023 Skytrax World Airline Awards, Air Transat is known for its exceptional customer service.

The holiday travel industry consists primarily of air carriers serving holiday travellers, mainly for tourism, vacation or to visit family and friends, as well as tour operators, travel agencies (both in-person and online), destination service companies, hoteliers and airlines. Each of these subsectors includes companies with different operating models.

We recorded $3,048.4 million in revenues for fiscal 2023, compared to $1,642.0 million for fiscal 2022.

For a more detailed description of the Corporation's business, vision, strategy, review of its objectives and achievements for 2023, its ability to meet its objectives and finally, its financing operations in the past year, we refer you to our Management's Discussion and Analysis for the year ended October 31, 2023, which can be found on SEDAR+ (www.sedarplus.ca).

The data contained in this section are estimates of our capacity and competitive positioning and are based on our knowledge of the relevant industry segments.

3.1 Air Transportation

3.1.1 Transat's Fleet Strategy

Transat constantly stays abreast of the latest trends that will allow it to serve its two leisure markets (namely, sun destinations with departures from Canada and the transatlantic program with departures from Canada and Europe), and to which transborder flights and, to a lesser extent, domestic flights are added, at the best prices and using the best aircraft available.

During the pandemic, Air Transat, Transat's airline company, rejuvenated its fleet and now relies on a mixed fleet of Airbus aircraft including long-haul aircraft (A330s and A321LRs) and medium-range aircraft (A321neos).

As a result, after having permanently retired our last six A310s from our fleet in 2020, we returned eight A330s to their respective lessors in 2021 and 2022. In addition, we accelerated our transition to a fully Airbus-type fleet by retiring five B737-800 aircraft from our fleet, the last of which, which had not operated commercially since the pandemic began, was returned to its owner in December 2022. Finally, we were able to restructure certain aircraft leases by deferring or reducing our payments during periods of the pandemic when our operations were reduced or even stopped, in exchange for an extension of the relevant leases. These measures allowed Transat to increase its flexibility during the pandemic and, above all, reduce its cost structure, simplify its fleet and reduce its carbon footprint in preparation for the resumption of operations after the pandemic.

As at October 31, 2023, Air Transat's fleet is composed of thirty-six (36) aircraft, including twenty-eight (28) long-haul aircraft, of which thirteen (13) are A330s and fifteen (15) are A321LRs, and eight (8) medium-haul aircraft (A321ceos).

LONG-HAUL
Type of Aircraft	Winter 2022	Summer 2022	Winter 2023	Summer 2023
A330	12	12	12	13
A321LR	10	12	12	15
Total long-haul fleet:	22	24	24	28

MEDIUM-HAUL
Type of Aircraft	Winter 2022	Summer 2022	Winter 2023	Summer 2023
A321ceo	7	7	7	8
B737-800	1	1	0	0
Total medium-haul fleet:	8	8	7	8

The Airbus A321LR is the latest long-range (LR) version of Airbus A321neo (New Engine Option) in the single-aisle aircraft segment. Combined with the A321ceos that serve sun destinations and the United States and the A330s that continue to be deployed mainly on the transatlantic program and high-demand sun destinations, the A321LR may be deployed on both transatlantic connections and sun destinations, which will allow us to maximize the use of this aircraft for the entire year throughout Transat's destination network. The size of the A321LR gives Transat greater flexibility in terms of the commercialization and frequency of flights, whereas the aircraft's low fuel consumption keeps the cost per seat low while reducing the air carrier's carbon footprint.

In July 2022, Transport Canada approved the use of the Mixed Fleet Flying program (the "MFF") for the A321 and A330 aircraft. This Mixed Fleet Flying program allows the use of a base airplane and its variants by members of the flight crew, for training or checking events. In other words, it authorizes certified pilots to operate the A321s and A330s without distinction, and to combine the training and checking events required for these aircraft due to the similarities in the cockpit and the Airbus' common aircraft operating philosophy and system architecture. When it is fully deployed, the MFF will ultimately allow Air Transat to reduce its costs, in particular maintenance and training costs, and will allow a certain flexibility in managing crew rotations, which will considerably simplify our operations.

In September 2022, Air Transat entered into an agreement with Air Lease Corporation for the long-term lease of four (4) new Airbus A321XLRs to be delivered in 2026 and 2027. Along with the A321LR aircraft, the A321XLRs figure as a cornerstone of Transat's 2022-2026 strategic plan since they make it possible to serve Transat's destination network for the entire year. These aircraft also allow optimized aircraft rotations combining short flights between two rotations to Europe (up to 17 hours of flight per day) thanks to a size more suited to shorter markets and optimized turnaround time.

Transat continued to implement its 2022-2026 strategic plan, with the conclusion in November 2022 of an agreement for two (2) additional A321LRs with SMBC Aviation Capital Limited. These aircraft are expected in April and May 2024. These aircraft will be added to the seventeen A321LRs included in our initial order with the lessor AerCap, the last two of which are expected in May and June 2024. Finally, Transat introduced a thirteenth A330 into its fleet in March 2023 and an eighth A321ceo in June 2023.

All these initiatives demonstrate our efforts to optimize capacity by scheduling flights more efficiently and increasing additional income sources. These efforts are accompanied by a diversification of the flights offered and an increase in flight frequency, both for the transatlantic program and for the sun destinations. Going forward, Air Transat wishes to continue to expand its transatlantic program by enhancing its flight program, notably by increasing the frequency of direct flights, adding connecting flights and inaugurating new city pairs, in order to offer travellers even more choices and flexibility.

In addition, to offset certain anticipated delays in the delivery of the A321LRs and to cover its commercial needs during the winter and summer 2023 seasons, Transat resorted to short-term aircraft leases. Therefore, Air Transat leased from Smartlynx Airline one A321ceo and two B737-8MAX aircraft in the winter of 2023 and two A330s in the summer of 2023, all with crews.

In addition, Air Transat will continue to lease the two Smartlynx B737-8MAXs with crews for winter 2024, to which will be added, subject to regulatory approvals, three additional Smartlynx B737-8MAXs, still with crews, and another aircraft from the CSA Czech Airlines/Smartwings A320-A321ceo family, with or without crews or a combination of both, beginning in mid-December for winter 2024.

These seasonal leases are necessary as part of the mitigation measures that Transat is implementing in response to the issues raised by the manufacturer Pratt & Whitney regarding the PW1133GJM ("PW") engines which affect all carriers whose fleet is equipped with these engines, including Air Transat's A321LR aircraft. In short, one of the issues is sustainability in the sense that some of the components have a shorter life span. The second issue is the possible presence of contaminants in the metal powder used to manufacture certain components on certain PW engines. In addition, it is completely safe to fly on all our aircraft, including those equipped with PW engines. The issues raised do not require an emergency recall involving safety risks, but rather require the manufacturer Pratt & Whitney to conduct preventive and expedited inspections and repairs sooner than originally planned. The operational limitations declared by Pratt & Whitney allow the usual safety levels in our industry to be maintained and Air Transat intends to comply with these levels.

Currently, these issues affect eight Air Transat engines, one of which is in the shop and should be returned to us in January 2024 and the seven others are waiting to go into the shop, effectively grounding three A321LRs of the fifteen operating to date. Transat is closely monitoring the situation and proactively managing these issues. It is managing the use of its engines upstream in order to scale their use based on the required inspections, finalizing negotiations to extend by two years the lease on one of its A330-200 aircraft expiring at the end of April 2024, and finally, it is not excluding the lease of additional aircraft in the summer of 2024, all to minimize the impact on its operations. In addition, Transat is in discussions with the manufacturer Pratt & Whitney to address these issues in order to obtain the necessary technical assistance and to be adequately compensated for this situation.

We served approximately 5.1 million passengers in fiscal 2023, compared with 3.2 million passengers in fiscal 2022 and 235,000 passengers in fiscal 2021. After a drastic drop in the number of passengers in fiscal 2021 due to reduced air travel as a result of the pandemic, the number of passengers in 2022 moved closer to 2019 levels (last full fiscal year before the pandemic) and exploded in 2023. The strong increase in passengers between 2022 and 2023 is due to the fact that we gradually resumed our operations in 2022 after the pandemic while 2023 saw prudent growth in our capacity.

During the 2023 winter season, Air Transat operated flights to nearly 35 destinations throughout the Caribbean, Mexico, Central and South America, the United States and Europe. Direct flights were offered, departing from eight Canadian cities: Montreal, Quebec City, Toronto, Halifax, Hamilton, Ottawa, Moncton and London (Ontario) to sun destinations and the United States. As for Europe, direct flights were offered to France, Portugal, the United Kingdom and Spain. To increase the number of international connections, Air Transat also operated domestic flights between Montreal, Quebec City, Toronto and Vancouver.

During the summer of 2023, Air Transat offered flights to 19 European destinations from Montreal. It operated non-stop flights to Amsterdam, Athens, Basel-Mulhouse, Barcelona, Brussels, Lisbon, London, Madrid, Malaga, Paris, Porto, Rome and Venice as well as to French provinces, including Bordeaux, Lyon, Marseille, Nantes, Nice and Toulouse and its daily service to Paris reached up to 14 flights per week during the summer. From Quebec City, Air Transat was the only airline to offer non-stop service to two European capitals, Paris and London. From Toronto, Air Transat served 15 European cities this summer. Non-stop service to Amsterdam, Athens, Barcelona, Dublin, Faro, Glasgow, Lamezia, Lisbon, London, Manchester, Paris, Porto, Rome, Venice and Zagreb were offered. In addition, due to the sustained demand for southern Portugal, Air Transat will now operate flights to Faro throughout the year. Air Transat operated flights to California, serving San Francisco and Los Angeles from Montreal, in addition to the routes to Florida that have been operated from Montreal, Quebec City and Toronto, which are now offered year-round. Air Transat also operated domestic flights and a wide selection of the most popular sun destinations in Mexico and the Caribbean departing from Montreal, Quebec City and Toronto.

Air Transat will also operate its first flight to Lima, Peru, on December 20, 2024, and in June 2024 will fly to Marrakech, Morocco for the first time. These year-round, non-stop flights will depart from Montreal and Toronto for Lima, and from Montreal for Marrakech.

Forming commercial alliances with other air carriers is now a key element of the Corporation's strategy. Thus, in May 2022, Air Transat established a bilateral codeshare agreement with WestJet for passengers connecting at Toronto Pearson (YTZ) and Montreal Trudeau (YUL) to Europe on a limited number of Transat and WestJet routes.

A few months later, in October 2022, Air Transat signed a bilateral codeshare agreement with Porter. This agreement, which initially covered Porter's domestic flights to and from Halifax (YHZ) and Toronto's Billy Bishop Airport (YTZ) as well as certain Air Transat flights to and from Montreal (YUL) via Europe, the United States and the rest of Canada, has been extended, since May 2023, to certain flights to and from Toronto Pearson (YYZ), Ottawa Macdonald-Cartier (YOW), Vancouver (YVR), Calgary (YYC) and Edmonton (YEG) airports. On November 28, 2023, the two partners announced their desire to strengthen their collaboration by announcing the creation of a revenue-sharing joint venture integrating the complementary Porter and Air Transat networks at Toronto Pearson (YYZ) and Montréal-Trudeau (YUL) airports. This strategic alliance will allow greater connectivity between North America, Europe and sun destinations (Mexico, Caribbean, Central America and South America).

This feeder network strategy is designed to facilitate the acceleration of both airlines' expansion in their respective markets: domestic and transborder short- and medium-haul for Porter, and international medium- and long-haul for Air Transat. The alliance, which will be gradually implemented throughout 2024, will also foster stronger network optimization through collaboration on scheduling and route planning. This alliance constitutes a significant step forward in executing Transat's strategic plan and an important milestone in developing a more sustainable competitive network, by allowing Transat to leverage the domestic market served by Porter, to use our fleet more efficiently and to accelerate the expansion of our transatlantic footprint.

For more information on the various bilateral codeshare agreements, please refer to the section entitled "Expansion of Virtual Interlining Service" in our MD&A.

Montreal-Trudeau International Airport is Air Transat's home base and, consequently, a key factor in our operating performance. In 2022, as flights resumed post-pandemic and operational challenges affected the aviation ecosystem, there grew a need to manage airport handling services in-house. Since November 1, 2023, passenger services, which include welcome activities at check-in counters and kiosks, the boarding process as well as management of arrivals and connecting flights, have been provided by Air Transat staff. In addition, by May 1, 2024, ramp services, which include all activities relating to baggage and aircraft ground handling, will also be gradually managed internally. The in-house management of airport handling services, which requires the addition of approximately 400 employees assigned to Air Transat operations, will strengthen our base at Montréal-Trudeau International Airport in terms of security, safety, punctuality and baggage delivery. By doing so, we are improving our customer service and reinforcing our employees' sense of belonging, two undeniable strengths that distinguish Transat.

In terms of cabin configuration, among Air Transat's 11 A330-200 aircraft, seven have 332 seats and four have 345 seats. Among the two A330-300s that remain in Air Transat's fleet, one has 346 seats and the other has 363 seats. The fifteen (15) A321LRs currently operated by Air Transat each have 199 seats. All A330 and A321LR aircraft in Air Transat's fleet include 12 seats in Club class. Five of Air Transat's eight A321neos have 198 seats and three have 199 seats. All have a Club seat installed at the front of the cabin for the crew to rest; these are not considered passenger seats. In terms of customer experience, all A330s and A321LRs are equipped with a mood-lighting system throughout the cabin and an in-flight entertainment system with a seat-integrated display.

3.1.2 Maintenance, Inspections, Safety and Other Measures

Because the safety of our customers, our staff and our partners is at the center of everything we do, Air Transat applies the highest industry standards in this area, in addition to respecting current regulations. In order not to leave anything to chance, Air Transat has adopted an integrated safety and quality management system that makes it possible to quickly identify risk factors and resolve them effectively, promote safety with our employees and partners, maintain standardized processes and, finally, validate on an ongoing basis, through internal audits, the effectiveness of our system.

Since June 3, 2022, Transat's President and Chief Executive Officer is also Air Transat's accountable executive for Transport Canada. Safety Management System activities are delegated to the Vice-President, Business Continuity, who reports on the system's performance to the accountable executive and to the Chief Operations Officer.

Air Transat has had the IOSA certification (IATA Operational Safety Audit) since 2007. Every two years, Air Transat must demonstrate its compliance with the IOSA program by means of an external audit. This program includes approximately 950 strict requirements in the areas of safety and quality management, training, control of flight operations, cabin and flight regulation, maintenance, ground operations, cargo transport and operational safety. Through this certification, Air Transat demonstrates its commitment to the highest standards of quality and safety. On December 10, 2023, Air Transat's IOSA certification was renewed.

We perform regular maintenance work and inspections on all aircraft of our fleet in accordance with aircraft maintenance procedures that meet and, in some cases, exceed Transport Canada's requirements.

3.1.3 Fuel Supply

Fuel costs represent a major component of an airline's operating expenses. The increase and constant fluctuations in the cost of fuel are a major concern for Transat given our industry's low margins. To protect itself against fuel price fluctuations, the Corporation may choose to enter into derivative agreements with financial intermediaries. The Corporation's hedging policy in this regard allows it to hedge up to 75% of projected fuel purchases for the next twelve months. This limit is a maximum, but is not mandatory. Moreover, there is no minimum monthly hedging limit. The Corporation's hedging strategy is regularly reviewed and adapted as needed to market conditions. As at October 31, 2023, 35% of estimated requirements for fiscal 2024 were covered by fuel-related derivatives [24% of the estimated requirements for fiscal 2023 were covered by fuel-related derivatives as at October 31, 2022].

To learn more about sustainable aviation fuel and the SAF+ Consortium, please refer to section 3.8.2 of this Annual Information Form.

3.2 Tour Operators

Transat acts as an outgoing tour operator through its subsidiary Transat Tours Canada Inc., operating under its Transat brand, as well as through its European subsidiaries, Air Consultants France S.A.S. and The Airline Seat Company Limited.

Trafictours de Mexico S.A. de C.V., Turissimo Caribe Excursiones Dominican Republic, C. por A. and Caribbean Transportation Inc. operate as incoming tour operators in Mexico, Barbados, the Dominican Republic and Jamaica.

Each of these tour operators operates in its own market by developing and marketing its individual product lines, while benefiting from the considerable purchasing power and other advantages generated by our vertical integration strategy.

3.2.1 Products of Transat Tours Canada Inc.

Transat Tours Canada Inc. ("Transat Tours") distributes products in the recreational markets located in North America, Central America, South America and Europe. We offer two main product categories to meet customer needs, namely, travel vacation packages from Canada and seats in all markets served by Air Transat. Transat Tours also offers seats to and from various Canadian cities for its domestic market. All of these products are essentially sold online, by either Transat Tours or Air Transat, and through travel agency networks.

In the packages category, Transat Tours offers five exclusive collections, namely the Solo, Family, Out of Office, R&R 18+ and Luxury collections, each of which features a selection of hotels and advantages suited to various types of consumers. Moreover, Transat also offers Duo packages in Cuba and Colombia, which combine two regions in one trip.

In winter 2022-2023, Transat operated flights to nine European destinations, 23 sun destinations, three U.S. destinations, as well as two domestic programs (between Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver). For the summer 2023 season, the flights operated covered 25 European destinations, 11 sun destinations, five U.S. destinations as well as domestic flights (between Montreal, Quebec City, Toronto, Vancouver and Calgary).

3.2.2 Products of The Airline Seat Company Limited

The Airline Seat Company Limited, which sells under the Canadian Affair brand, has been a wholly owned subsidiary of Transat since August 1, 2006. The UK-based entity also manages the activities of Air Transat in the UK and Ireland.

Canadian Affair is the UK's largest single destination tour operator to Canada and its flight-only business is focused on Air Transat's flight program. Canadian Affair offers tailor-made holidays in Canada, distributing directly to the consumer, and, more recently, through travel agencies in the UK. Canadian Affair is focusing its business on tour operating, selling holidays to Canada packaged with both Air Transat or third-party airline flights, through its call center and online at www.canadianaffair.com. Working closely with its suppliers and inbound/ground tour operators, its product offering continues to develop to bring more packaged tours into its product range, allowing customers to carefully select their holiday to Canada. More recently, it also markets, through travel agencies, travel packages to the United States under the "American Affair" brand. Over the last five years, Canadian Affair has been named Best Canadian Tour Operator at the British Travel Awards. It was also recently awarded "Tour Operator of the Year - Small" by a leading trade media outlet, TTG.

For the Air Transat brand, there is a dedicated sales team to drive B2B commerce sales and a marketing team to drive B2C e-commerce sales on the www.airtransat.co.uk and www.airtransat.ie websites, ensuring messages are relevant, timely and on point for the local market, whilst at all times working closely with Transat to ensure brand consistency.

Air Transat maintains strong partnerships within the tourism industry (group tour operators, independent agents, online travel agencies (OTAs) and chains) in the UK and its strategic plan consists of maintaining a healthy balance between B2C e-commerce sales and B2B commerce sales.

3.2.3 Air Consultants France S.A.S.

Air Consultants France S.A.S. ("ACF") was created on March 4, 2016, to provide continuity of Air Transat's commercial representation in France following the October 2016 sale of the Transat France subsidiary to TUI AG. In that regard, ACF sees to the commercial representation of Air Transat for flights departing from France, but also departing from Belgium, the Netherlands and Switzerland on the French, Belgian, Swiss, Dutch and German markets.

ACF is primarily made up of three teams: the commercial team, customer service team and marketing, electronic commerce and communications team. The commercial team is responsible for developing sales through travel agencies, OTAs ("Online Travel Agents"), tour operators and group travel specialists. The customer service team provides support to travel agents and tour operators (tariff-setting, emissions) and also exclusively sells Air Transat plane tickets. For its part, the marketing, electronic commerce and communications team is responsible for implementing the marketing strategy developed by the Canadian head office, internal and external communications, electronic trade and managing Air Transat's websites in France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland. This team manages the commercial and digital marketing budgets allocated by the parent company as well as contributions from partners (Tourism Offices, Airports, etc.).

Moreover, with respect to commercial representation, ACF collaborates with the company Aviareps, a general sales agent, that operates in France, Belgium and the Netherlands. The Corporation contracts commercial missions with Aviareps through non-exclusive commercial representatives on these three markets that report to the director of ACF, and that oversee our commercial representation in the field (customer visits / presence at trade fairs) and sales development with travel agencies and tour operators.

3.2.4 Products of Trafictours Canada Inc.

Trafictours Canada Inc. and its subsidiaries ("TraficTours") located in Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Barbados and in Jamaica are wholly owned by Transat A.T. Inc.

TraficTours is an incoming tour operator and offers destination services in Mexico and the Caribbean, mainly in beach destinations such as Cancun, Riviera Maya, Puerto Vallarta, Riviera Nayarit, Los Cabos, Punta Cana, Puerto Plata, La Romana, Samana and Montego Bay.

The services offered by TraficTours consist mainly of the transportation of passengers to and from the main international airports to the various hotels. TraficTours also has multilingual representatives in all hotels at the various destinations, providing customer service and selling tours and activities to enhance travellers' overall experience. TraficTours has also obtained many concessions in the hotel lobbies, working closely with them, in order to provide all types of services to travellers.

In 2023, TraficTours transported more than 900,000 passengers across destinations. The current number of passengers transported is gradually increasing since the recovery of leisure travel and should return to the one million mark that was transported in 2019 in the next few years.

3.2.5 Hotel Activities

In May 2021, the Corporation decided to cease the hotel division's activities and as a result abandoned any further development of this division given the changes to its strategic objectives.

In fiscal 2022, the Corporation retained the services of a broker to sell its land in Puerto Morelos to increase its level of liquidity. The land was sold for US $38 million and the transaction closed on August 31, 2023.

3.2.5.1 Marival Armony (formerly Rancho Banderas)

On April 3, 2017, Transat purchased from a third party a 50% interest in Hotel Rancho Banderas, located in Punta de Mita in Mexico. Through a wholly owned subsidiary, Transat was a co-shareholder, along with a subsidiary of Gesmex, in Desarrollo Transimar, S.A. de C.V. ("Desarrollo Transimar"). Gesmex was also a shareholder of TraficTours prior to the Corporation's acquisition of the interest held by Gesmex on May 31, 2021. Following an expansion completed in 2018, the hotel currently consists of 268 rooms. In the context of this transaction, Transat and Gesmex, and their respective subsidiaries, have entered into a shareholder agreement providing for a call option in the event of a change of control, as defined in the agreement. Under the agreement, the parties have granted each other the right to purchase or sell, as the case may be, their entire interest in Desarrollo Transimar. The parties have agreed that the exercise price of such right to purchase or sell the other party's interest in Desarrollo Transimar shall be equal to the fair market value of such interest.

3.3 Travel Agencies and Distribution

In Canada, the Corporation distributes its products in part through its own network of wholly owned, franchised or affiliated retailers. The Corporation is the largest retail distributor of holiday travel products in Canada, with 248 outlets, of which 30 are wholly owned, 119 are franchised and 99 are affiliated and do business under the Club Voyages, Marlin Travel/Voyages Marlin, Voyages en Liberté, Transat Travel/Voyages Transat and TravelPlus banners or affiliation programs.

In June 2013, the Corporation launched a new travel agency concept under the Transat Travel banner. To date, 11 of its wholly owned agencies carry out their activities under this name.

The Corporation has also developed and implemented an external agent program that extends the scope of its wholly owned agencies under the Voyages Transat/Transat Travel banner. This program was enhanced in 2020 so that external agents who join its network can operate under their own brand name.

The Corporation operates its travel agency network in Canada as one business unit, allowing it to take advantage of a common administration for all its wholly owned agencies across the country, and combine its purchasing power.

3.4 Our Employees

As at October 31, 2023, Transat and its subsidiaries had approximately 5,037 active employees, of which 4,582 were located in Canada.

Since September 2022, none of Transat's employees remain laid off.

The number of employees has grown steadily since the end of the pandemic, as activities returned to a level close to 2019. Since this resumption, Transat gradually reinstated and enhanced its development programs for employees and managers, and also reassessed the benefits offered to preserve its attractiveness on the labour market. Transat is attractive to candidates in the labour market, which has allowed it to return to its pre-pandemic workforce.

Following the end of mandatory telework required due to the pandemic for office staff on November 15, 2021, Transat implemented an updated telework policy, which is founded on freedom of choice for staff whose duties do not require them to be present at the workplace. Eligible employees may therefore choose to work from any location in Canada. This policy increases employee satisfaction, broadens the recruitment pool and strengthens Transat's position as an employer of choice. At the same time, Transat reviewed the design of its offices and adapted its way of working to encourage employees to regularly meet in person in the offices.

Since 2017, Transat has been using a real-time employee engagement platform which allows it to conduct surveys and share employee feedback. This platform gives the Corporation and its managers the means to closely follow the evolution of the mood and morale of all of its employees. Overall, the results are very favorable and Transat is ensuring that managers continuously monitor the situation to maintain a healthy and positive work environment.

A detailed description of our short- and long-term compensation plans is set out in the Management Proxy Circular relating to the annual meeting of shareholders that will be held on March 14, 2024, (and, if needed, in the Management Proxy Circular dated March 9, 2023), which is available on SEDAR+ (www.sedarplus.ca).

Approximately 70% of Transat's Canadian employees are unionized and subject to five collective agreements. The following table sets out the associations to which our employees belong and the status of their collective agreements as at the date of this AIF.

In the summer of 2023, the collective agreement with the crew planning group was renewed until July 31, 2027.

The renewal of the collective agreement with the flight dispatchers and flight attendants started in fiscal 2023. There is a possibility that the negotiations regarding the renewal of these collective agreements may lead to stoppages, work slowdowns or increases in the cost of labour, which may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Employees	Transat's Subsidiary	Association	Status of Collective Agreement
Flight crew members (pilots)	Air Transat	Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA)	Collective agreement in effect until April 30, 2025
Flight attendants	Air Transat	Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE)	Collective agreement expired since October 31, 2022 - renewal under negotiation
Flight dispatchers	Air Transat	Canadian Airline Dispatchers Association (CALDA)	Collective agreement expired since October 31, 2022 - renewal under negotiation
Crew scheduling and passenger service	Air Transat	International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAMAW)	Collective agreement in effect from August 1, 2021, to July 31, 2027
Maintenance, stores and technical support	Air Transat	International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAMAW), Local chapter 140	Collective agreement in effect from May 1, 2022, to April 30, 2027

3.5 Competition

Transat faces competition on many fronts, namely from air carriers, tour operators and travel agencies (traditional and online).

Competition remains extremely fierce in all our areas of activity. It results not only from airlines specializing in leisure/holiday travel and mainstream tour operators, but also from low-cost carriers. In addition, traditional airlines have adjusted their base rates and created new leisure/low-cost airline subsidiaries. Furthermore, online travel agencies (OTAs) and hotel operators selling directly to consumers play a major role. Other players, including sharing-economy sites and specialized mobile apps, are now present in the leisure travel industry.

The two basic trends in tourism, strong growth of online direct sales and disintermediation of transactions, now place the customer at the center of the purchasing process thereby allowing the customer to deal directly with suppliers (hotel operators, carriers, incoming tour operators), travel agents and OTAs. Competition is pervasive at all levels, requiring cost management, an approach as a service provider for the airline industry and a presence in the various distribution channels to stand out and succeed.

3.5.1 Tour Operators

Tour operators specialized in outgoing services purchase the various components of a trip and sell them to customers through various distribution channels, either as a travel package or separately. The large outgoing tour operators purchase blocks of seats or complete flights mainly from air carriers specializing in charter services and undertake to pay for all the seats so purchased, whether they sell them or not, thereby obtaining a better price. Such tour operators also negotiate with hotels for the rental of blocks of rooms and make arrangements in order to offer travel packages at lower prices than if customers were to make their own reservations.

Certain tour operators round out the range of services offered to travel agencies with the FIT formula (Foreign Independent Tour), namely the sale of seats along with lodging and car rentals which clients can select individually. OTAs are particularly active in the FIT program segment, thus becoming both an additional distribution channel and competition for tour operators. As the FIT program is growing at a rapid pace, the tour operators put greater emphasis on that market segment.

3.5.1.1 Canada

Canadian vacationers travel mainly to two regions, either going South or to Europe as well as sun destinations in the Caribbean and Latin America. Vacationers opting for sun destinations are primarily looking for the comfort of packages, whereas those travelling to transatlantic destinations are mostly looking for aircraft seats and, incidentally, car rental and hotel bed-night booking services. Canadian outgoing tour operators finalize agreements with suppliers six to eight months prior to the beginning of each season. The summer season runs from May 1 to October 31 and the products offered are prepared in the preceding fall. The winter season runs from November 1 to April 30 and the products offered are prepared in the preceding spring. As part of these preparations, tour operators undertake negotiations with air carriers, hotels, cruise ship operators, and car rental agencies. Once such negotiations are completed, brochures and websites illustrating the various destinations and describing the various packages and services offered are either prepared and distributed to travel agencies before the beginning of each season (with sales presentations to travel agents in the main cities of the markets covered) or sold directly to consumers via direct online booking.

Operating its Transat and Air Transat brands, Transat Tours is a major Canadian tour operator, but competes with other tour operators for sun destinations. The Corporation and its three major competitors, Air Canada, WestJet and Sunwing, have comparable market shares.

We continue to devote major efforts to the expansion of our range of products, accounting for market trends, with the objective of offering a product line that differentiates us from the competition; the purpose being to offer products that best meet customers' expectations in each new market.

3.5.1.2 United Kingdom

The UK tourism services has been dominated for many years by competition based on price and the market is quite mature in its use of direct online booking. Customers will decide their holiday destination by focusing mainly on the price of their flight, regularly using flight comparison websites, regardless of the short-haul or medium-haul destination that interests them, since access to airline services from the United Kingdom is not a limiting factor. This is now also the case for long-haul destinations, which are increasingly served by an ever-growing number of carriers and price competitiveness has been increasing in the last few years.

Canadian Affair is a well-established tour operator in the UK, and as the main tour operator to Canada, it also sells holidays, including flights, to Canada directly to consumers through its call center and website www.canadianaffair.com, and, more recently, to travel agencies through its commercial representatives and its call center.

Our most important mainstream tour operator competitors all have a brochure and activities with a Canadian focus. They target the sale of packaged holidays and tours to Canada, and many have seat allocations on our flights.

3.5.2 Travel Agencies and Distribution

Travel agencies act as intermediaries between tour operators, cruise lines and carriers, on the one hand, and customers, on the other. Whether in person, online, by telephone or otherwise, travel agents are in contact with, advise and sell products to customers. Travel agencies sell travel packages and plane tickets offered by tour operators, plane tickets sold directly by airline carriers and other travel products and services such as cruises, and they are generally paid a commission by these tour operators and other suppliers. Travel agencies operate independently, as part of large corporate groups, as franchisees or within associations or affiliations.

As a result of technological advances, online travel agencies now offer a large range of travel products by way of transactional websites. In both America and Europe, online travel sales primarily consist of airline tickets and hotel accommodations, chosen separately, and only a limited proportion of sales are for packages that include flight and hotel accommodations.

As is the case with tour operators, low profit margins cause travel agencies to seek higher volumes and larger market shares. One of our priorities relating to integration is still focused on extending our distribution network in our three primary geographic markets: Canadian, transatlantic and sun destinations.

Retail travel agency chains represent one-third of all travel agents in Canada. The major chains are Transat Distribution Canada operating under banners such as Transat Travel/Voyages Transat, Club Voyages, Marlin Travel and TravelPlus banners or affiliated programs (which make up our network of travel agencies), CAA, Flight Centre, Maritime Travel, Uniglobe and Vision Travel.

Retail travel agency chains operating under a common banner provide a range of services to their members, in the form of negotiated commission levels with major tour operators, as well as training, marketing and information services support. Consortiums of travel agents constitute the second third of Canadian travel agents. They offer centralized negotiated commissions with tour operators. Finally, the last third is made up of independent travel agents.

3.5.3 Air Carriers

Competition between air carriers is based largely on price, as well as on flight schedules, choice of city pairs (availability of direct flights), flight comfort (seats, inflight services, etc.), adapting the offer to various needs, classes, special offers (families, youths, professionals, etc.) and the loyalty program. Regarding holiday travel, the ability of operators to bundle land portions (car rental, guided tours, accommodations) with the flight can also influence their decisions and buying patterns. As prices depend in part on the laws of supply and demand, if the capacity offered in the marketplace by all operators exceeds the demand, it will exert downward pressure on prices. Prices also vary significantly in accordance with seasonal variations in market conditions.

The air transportation industry is composed of four major segments: (i) legacy carriers, which offer a complete service, both in terms of their diversified network and their range of products, targeting all customer segments. These companies structure a large part of their network around a limited number of hubs and are characterized by offering quality service to business customers and participating in well-established alliances. Several legacy carriers have developed subsidiaries, both for regional traffic and to cope with the rise of low-cost airlines; (ii) low-cost carriers, which are characterized by the simplicity of their business model, making concessions on quality of service (timetables, airports served, on-board comfort) and offering à la carte services for a fee (checked baggage, food on board, etc.) in order to offer the most attractive price to the consumer. These companies have developed mainly on medium-haul routes, although there are new entrants who have not yet proven themselves on long-haul routes; (iii) leisure carriers, such as our own airline Air Transat, serving almost exclusively the leisure travel market through a combination of scheduled and charter air services (in the case of Air Transat, they are primarily scheduled flights, except for certain specific destinations served by charter flights) and relying, for an important part of their commercial strength, on marketing packages; and (iv) regional airlines operating short-haul flights and providing feed traffic to network carriers at major hubs.

Network carriers market and distribute their services to the public through in-house reservations departments, global distribution systems and the Internet. Low-cost carriers sell the vast majority of their seats on the Internet. Leisure carriers charter part of their capacity to tour operators and wholesalers who, in turn, consolidate flight services into packages and sell to the public primarily via the travel agency distribution network. The tour operators negotiate bulk hotel room rates and make other arrangements to render the price of a vacation package sold to the customer more attractive than if the consumer had attempted to make his own reservations.

Network carriers expand their destination offerings through marketing tools such as code sharing and the creation of airline joint ventures. They can sometimes be part of several of the large global carrier alliances and joint ventures which have been formed over the last decade. Leisure and low-cost carriers principally offer direct point-to-point flights.

Network carriers, low-cost carriers and leisure carriers increasingly compete in the leisure and the so-called visiting friends and relatives travel markets. This is particularly true following certain policy changes enabling air carriers specializing in charter services to operate scheduled flights between certain destinations, as is the case with Air Transat, which is licensed to offer scheduled services between Canada and the countries listed in Section 3.7.2.2 of this AIF. Another trend that should be noted is the emergence of flexible or seasonal fleet strategies among leisure travel air carriers that leverage the counter-seasonal realities of the North American and European travel markets.

In addition, some low-cost carriers such as Flair and Lynx Air (formerly Enerjet) have entered the Canadian market during the pandemic. These are foreign-backed companies that have announced very significant development plans in Canada, with a development strategy focused on the domestic and transborder markets, in addition to some major sun destinations.

Transat's competitors include namely Air Canada, WestJet, Swoop, Sunwing, Air France, KLM, British Airways, Aer Lingus, Corsair, Brussels Airlines, TAP Portugal, Lufthansa, American Airlines, Flair Airlines, Lynx Air, Canada Jetlines and OWG (Nolinor).

3.6 Intellectual Property

We believe that our intellectual property is very important to our success. The following is a non-exhaustive list of our principal registered and unregistered trademarks and designs that are used in association with travel-related services rendered by our business units: the star design, luggage tag design, Air Transat and the mosaic design appearing in certain travel agencies, Canadian Affair, Club Voyages, Trafictours, Transat, Turissimo, Liberty Travel/Voyages en Liberté, Marlin Travel/Voyages Marlin, Transat Travel/Voyages Transat, TravelPlus, Luxexpert, connectair by Air Transat and Travel Moves Us/Le voyage nous transporte as well as other trademarks (including the Ringtone sound trademark), trade names, designs and domain names associated or not to the aforementioned trademarks.

Some of these trademarks, including in particular Air Transat, Transat, Club Voyages, Transat Travel/Voyages Transat, TravelPlus, Marlin Travel/Voyages Marlin and connectair by Air Transat, share the star design. The creation of a unique, strong and visible corporate identity across our main business units facilitates the recognition of our various companies and divisions for both our customers and our employees. It also maximizes customer awareness on both the B2C and B2B markets, while creating value and fully leveraging the contribution of all of our business units. Regular monitoring of the Corporation's trademarks allows it to formally oppose any trademark application that may cause confusion in the markets in which it operates.

We also take great care not to infringe on the intellectual property rights and trademarks belonging to others.

3.7 The Regulatory Environment in which we Operate

As a vertically integrated company, we are involved in all levels of operation specific to leisure travel. As a result, we operate in a highly regulated environment at all levels, from air carriers to tour operators and travel agencies. All our companies and divisions hold all licenses, certificates and permits necessary for their operations and are in compliance, in all material respects, with the requirements of applicable laws and regulations. You will find below a description of the laws and regulations to which we are subject.

3.7.1 Tour Operators and Travel Agencies

3.7.1.1 Canada

General information

In Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, where most of our operations are centered, most tour operators and travel agencies (collectively referred to in this subsection as "travel agents") are governed by specific legislation providing protection to the travel customer. The Office de la protection du consommateur, the Travel Industry Council of Ontario ("TICO") and Consumer Protection BC are the designated authorities in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, respectively, to carry out the control and inspection mechanisms provided for in the legislation and to ensure compliance therewith. In all three provinces, travel agents must hold licenses to carry on their business and must deposit into a trust account monies received from customers for travel services purchased. The law restricts the use of these funds. All three provinces have established compensation funds in favour of consumers to protect them against fraud or bankruptcies of travel agents and end suppliers, such as airlines or cruise lines.

Key aspects addressed by applicable legislation in all three provinces include compensation funds and advertised price for travel services.

Quebec

Quebec is the only province where the compensation fund (Compensation Fund for Customers of Travel Agents or the "CFCTA") is made up of customer contributions.

Before the pandemic, when the value of the CFCTA was equal to or greater than $125 million, customers of travel agents were credited the amount of their contribution to the CFCTA, thereby making the protection free of charge. Collection of contributions would resume, according to the calculation prescribed in the regulation, if the surplus accumulated as of March 31 of each year decreased under the $75 million threshold. From January 1, 2019, to October 31, 2021, travel agents were no longer required to collect the contribution to the compensation fund from their customers. Customers of travel agents could therefore benefit from the fund free of charge. Customers can claim directly from the CFCTA if they do not receive the services for which they have paid in the event of a supplier default or because of a reason outside a customer's control. The total compensation per event cannot exceed 60% of the surplus accumulated in the CFCTA as of the previous March 31 or be less than $30 million.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the CFCTA received over 44,000 claims of which 9,177 were paid as of September 20, 2022, from the CFCTA. Fearing a reduction in the value of the CFCTA, the government deemed it necessary to start collecting contributions again. Therefore, since November 1, 2021, under the Regulation respecting certain temporary measures relating to the Fonds d'indemnisation des clients des agents de voyages which came into force on October 14, 2021 (the "Regulation respecting certain temporary measures"), the contribution to the fund was reinstated and set to 0.35% of the amount of tourism services purchased until the end of 2023. The situation has since been reassessed given that the value of the CFCTA is over $125 million as at March 31, 2023. Starting on January 1, 2024, travel agents will no longer be required to collect from their customers the contribution to the compensation fund. Customers of travel agents will once again benefit from the fund free of charge. Moreover, the Regulation respecting certain temporary measures increased the maximum compensation per event to 75%. In addition, the above-mentioned lower threshold of $30 million does not apply until December 31, 2023.

In addition to the foregoing, the Regulation respecting certain temporary measures for the payment of the duties payable for a travel agent license, a travel counselor certificate and a travel agency manager certificate aims to exempt travel agents, travel counselors and travel agency managers from having to pay duties from March 1, 2021, to February 28, 2023. As of March 1, 2023, the duties have once again become payable.

Ontario

In Ontario, as opposed to Quebec, tour operators and travel agents are responsible for financing travellers' financial protection through the Ontario Travel Industry Compensation Fund. In December of 2017, the Ontario government adopted the Strengthening Protection for Ontario Consumers Act, 2017. With this legislation, the Ontario government amended, inter alia, the Travel Industry Act, 2002, for the purpose of, among other things, modernizing it, strengthening consumer protection and lightening the regulatory burden imposed on travel agencies.

No changes were made to the compensation fund, which continues to be administered and managed in accordance with the applicable regulation, namely the Ontario Regulation 26/05 (the “Regulation”).

Since April 1, 2017, the rate of contribution to the Ontario compensation fund is $0.25, plus applicable taxes, for every thousand dollars of travel services sold. As in Quebec, taxpayers, in this case travel agents, may draw directly on the compensation fund with a view to be reimbursed for disbursements made to customers in the event of default of an end supplier. The maximum amount that may be reimbursed out of the compensation fund to a customer or travel agent for failure to provide travel services is $5,000 for each person whose travel services were paid for by the customer. The maximum amount that may be reimbursed for a failure to provide travel services with respect to all claims arising out of an event or a major event is capped at $7.0 million.

Furthermore, in 2017, the Ministry of Government and Consumer Services (the “Ministry”) consulted stakeholders about the development of the Regulation and the proposed regulatory changes. As such, it is still possible that the rules governing the compensation fund could be amended. Consultations in this respect were held from October 5, 2023, to November 10, 2023.

In Ontario, special measures for tour operators and travel agents were adopted due to the pandemic. At the end of March 2020, the Ontario Regulation 26/05 under the Travel Industry Act 2002 was quickly amended, in order to alleviate the burden for registered travel agents and tour operators in Ontario as well as to improve the protection for certain travellers affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. The financial reporting process for certain registrants, based on their annual sales figures, was simplified, but not eliminated. Working capital thresholds were eliminated and replaced by an obligation to maintain a positive working capital instead. The credit voucher solution was endorsed and a framework was established. More specifically, when clients did not receive the travel services that they had paid for, travel agencies or tour operators registered in Ontario had to provide a reimbursement, acceptable equivalent alternative travel services OR a credit voucher. Despite this change in legislation, if the vendor’s failure to provide such services was due to the COVID-19 pandemic as of March 30, 2020, until March 31, 2024, travel agencies and tour operators that sold these services, may choose to only issue credit vouchers, provided that the credit voucher (1) is at least of equal value to the services not provided; (2) is valid for a minimum of one year from the date it is issued to the customer; and (3) may be used to purchase other travel services after the expiry of the one-year period. Ontario also expanded the coverage of the compensation fund for claims involving travel vouchers that are not honored by travel agencies or tour operators registered in Ontario for COVID-19-related reasons until March 31, 2024.

In order to support travel agents and wholesalers, TICO offered a temporary exemption as it relates to the fees. As a result of this exemption, travel agents and wholesalers would not have to pay their annual registration renewal fees or Travel Industry Compensation Fund payments (“Form-1”) owed to TICO between April 1, 2020, and March 31, 2023. This exemption ended on April 1, 2023.

British Columbia

In British Columbia, as in Ontario, the compensation fund is made up of travel agent and travel wholesaler contributions. The maximum amount that may be paid to a claimant in respect of a claim is $5,000 for each person covered by the claim, subject to a $2.0 million cap for all claims relating to a single event. It remains to be seen how this cap will work out with the contribution holiday, under the legislation applicable to licensees. This contribution holiday applies when the book value of the Travel Assurance Fund is at least $2.0 million, and the licensee has paid the required contributions for successive semi-annual periods totaling three years.

At this time, the reimbursement cap protocol in British Columbia remains uncertain, given that the suspension of contributions otherwise required to be paid by permit holders under the law has not yet been lifted. Last year there was no increase in required fees. As such, the various required fees will increase by 4% as of January 1, 2022, until January 1, 2024, inclusively.

3.7.1.1.1 Advertised Price for Travel Services

When it comes to advertising, Quebec legislation promotes full disclosure to enable the customer to make informed decisions, namely to ensure that pricing information is not misleading and that the total price is provided at the actual time of purchase to avoid so-called "sticker shock." However, travel agents may exclude from the total cost of the services advertised the Quebec sales tax, Canada's goods and services tax and the dollar amount payable as a contribution to the compensation fund. The Travel Agent Act and its Regulation provide that a travel agent who wishes to unilaterally change the price of the travel services provided in a contract entered into with a client must insert a clause to that effect in the contract. The clause shall state that (i) the price may only be increased following the imposition of a fuel surcharge by the carrier or an increase in the exchange rate, insofar as the exchange rate applicable 45 days prior to the date on which the services are to be provided (the date of departure in most cases) has increased by more than 5% since the date on which the contract was entered into (the date of purchase in most cases); (ii) no price increase may occur within 30 days prior to the date on which the services are to be provided (once again, the date of departure in most cases); and (iii) if such price increase is equal to or greater than 7% of the price of the travel services, excluding the Quebec sales tax or Canada's goods and services tax, the customer may choose between a full and immediate refund or the provision of similar services.

Since January 1, 2017, Ontario's legislation requires that any advertising indicating a trip's price must also include all fees and taxes. The Travel Industry Act, 2002 requires any representation relating to the price of travel services to show in a clear, comprehensible and prominent manner the total amount consumers will be required to pay for the travel services, including all fees, levies, service charges, surcharges, taxes and other costs. All-inclusive prices reduce confusion and ensure that there are no surprises for consumers who purchase travel services in the province.

While Ontario's legislation also allows for price increases, it only allows them if the contract between the travel agent and the customer permits them, if the customer has not paid the price of the travel services in full, and if the cumulative price increase is less than 7% of the total price of the travel services, excluding any increase resulting from an increase in retail sales tax or federal goods and services tax. Otherwise, the travel agent must offer the customer the choice between a full and immediate refund of the amount paid and comparable alternate travel services acceptable to the customer. Advertising rules in British Columbia applicable to travel agents are similar to Ontario but they are dealt with in general consumer protection laws.

The Air Transportation Regulations (Canada) require that the price of air services represented in any advertisement be the total price, inclusive of all taxes, fees and surcharges. The advertisement must also include a description of the air services offered and the customer must have access to the breakdown of the components of the price paid (taxes, fees and charges paid to a third party) and the fees for any optional services available. It should be noted that these provisions do not apply to air cargo services, sale of air services to businesses or the sale of package travel services where air services are sold with other features such as accommodations, tours, cruises or car rentals.

3.7.1.1.2 Laws Applicable to Franchising Activities

Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta, New Brunswick and British Columbia have adopted laws governing the formalities for entering into franchise contracts. In the course of its activities, Transat enters into franchise contracts with franchisees doing business in these provinces under the Marlin Travel and Travel Plus.

As at the date of this AIF, our companies and divisions doing business as travel agents hold all licenses necessary for their operations and are in compliance, in all material respects, with the requirements of applicable laws and regulations, including those related to franchises.

3.7.1.2 United Kingdom

The UK travel industry is governed by three main regulatory bodies: ATOL, ABTA and IATA (defined hereinafter). ATOL is a government-backed protection scheme for flights and air holidays and is managed by the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA). Most firms who sell air travel in the UK such as Canadian Air are required by law to hold a license called an ATOL. ATOL protects consumers from losing money or being stranded abroad if and when a tour operator goes out of business. All licensed firms are required to take part in a financial guarantee scheme managed by the CAA which protects customers should a firm fail. Following this measure, Canadian Air issued a letter of credit of £2.1 million to the CAA. The holders of an ATOL license must deliver their certificate to every customer booking a trip covered by their ATOL license. ATOL protection is included in the price of a holiday booked with an ATOL holder. Since 2016, Air Transat UK departing passengers, like those of other scheduled airlines, are no longer ATOL protected. However, Canadian Air customers who book a qualifying flight plus holiday arrangement will continue to be ATOL protected.

ABTA, the Association of British Travel Agents, is a trade association which represents UK travel agents and tour operators. It is ABTA's role to ensure that customers benefit from consistently high standards of trading practice in the travel industry. ABTA members operate under a Code of Conduct and provide consumer advice on all aspects of holidays from financial security to complaint handling. Customer financial protection is provided for the sale of vacation packages excluding airfare (not covered by the ATOL protection) through a financial guarantee scheme managed by ABTA. Based on these measures, Canadian Air issued a letter of credit of £0.7 million to ABTA.

3.7.2 Air Carriers

3.7.2.1 International Regulatory Framework

Numerous commercial aspects of international air transport are regulated by international conventions, principally the Convention on International Civil Aviation signed in Chicago on December 7, 1944 (the "Chicago Convention”), by the domestic legislation of countries in which air transport is conducted, and by a network of bilateral and multilateral air transport agreements and treaties.

The Chicago Convention provides the basis for regulation of international air carrier operations. Scheduled air services are governed by the bilateral air transport agreements in effect between the countries of origin, destination and, in certain cases, transit of the flights in question. Certain principles pertaining to the operation of international charter flights were established between each of the signatory states (including Canada), namely that the intended transportation comply with, and be duly approved pursuant to, the national regulations of the countries between which it is being conducted.

The Chicago Convention also established the International Civil Aviation Organization (the “ICAO”), a specialized agency of the United Nations whose purpose is to foster the planning and development of international air transport. Under the auspices of the ICAO, rules establishing minimum operational standards are normally agreed upon on a multilateral basis. One of the treaties with considerable consequence for Transat is the landmark air transport agreement concluded between Canada and the European Union (“EU”) in November 2008. It formally entered into force on December 16, 2009. The agreement sets the rules for air transport services between Canada and the 27 member states of the EU and will liberalize market access in this respect on a progressive, phased-in basis. During the first phase, Canadian airlines are able to operate from any point in Canada to any point in the 27 member-state EU zone without restrictions, with EU-licensed air carriers enjoying reciprocal rights from any point in the EU (regardless of nationality) to any point in Canada. Subsequent liberalization phases will be contingent on the relaxation of Canadian airline ownership and control rules by foreign interest and will involve the easing of access to third-country markets.

On November 5, 2003, the Montreal Convention of 1999 on Compensation for Accident Victims (the “Montreal Convention”) came into effect. This multilateral agreement updates the rules on passengers, baggage and cargo liability applicable to international air transport and originally established by the Warsaw Convention in 1929 and amended over the years (together the “Warsaw System”). The Montreal Convention provides for the review of liability limits, thus ensuring that the amounts remain relevant with the passage of time. The first such review was duly undertaken by the ICAO during the course of 2009. In addition to establishing new principles of liability, the Montreal Convention modernizes many of the ticketing and air waybill requirements. The Montreal Convention has been ratified by Canada and applies to all flights between Canada and other ratifying states. For flights from Canada to non-ratifying or non-signatory states, the Warsaw System continues to govern.

As an airline operating flights from airports within the EU, Air Transat is subject to the provisions of EU Regulation 261/2004. This directive establishes a legal framework for the compensation and care of passengers by airlines in the event of overbooking/denied boarding, flight cancellations and long delays. While the Regulation stipulates payable compensation in the event of the first two cases, it only expressly provides for a duty of care by the airline in the context of a long flight delay (meals, snacks, hotel accommodations, as applicable). In November 2009, the European Court of Justice issued a ruling that extended financial compensation obligations to long delays as well. This jurisprudential trend has been maintained and EU national enforcement bodies henceforth consider passengers on flights delayed by more than three hours as being eligible for compensation per the rates set out for overbooking/cancellation, except in certain narrowly defined cases of extraordinary circumstances. It should be noted that this regulation was introduced into British domestic law despite it leaving the EU.

3.7.2.2 Canadian Legislation

In Canada, the Aeronautics Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. A-2, the Canada Transportation Act and the Transportation Modernization Act, S.C. 2018, c. 10 are the three principal legislative instruments that regulate the operation of a commercial airline in Canada. Such operation is subject to the issuance of the required licenses and operating certificate attesting that the air carrier complies with Canadian standards, as well as to the maintenance of the required liability insurance. In the case of charter flights, permits are required for each proposed flight or series of flights. Licenses and charter permits are issued by the Canadian Transportation Agency (the "Agency"), and the operating certificate is issued by Transport Canada. This certificate attests that the air carrier is properly organized and equipped to conduct its business in compliance with the Canadian Aviation Regulations, SOR/1996-433. Such a certificate was issued to Air Transat on November 13, 1987, and was subsequently modified to reflect our changing operating conditions.

Air Transat's flights are generally operated under scheduled air service licenses (domestic, cross-border and international). In fact, Air Transat is licensed by the Agency to operate scheduled flights within Canada and between Canada and the following countries: the EU (representing its current 27 member states), Switzerland, the United Kingdom of Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Turkey, Israel, the United States, Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, the Bahamas, Barbados, Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Colombia, Antigua and Barbuda, St. Lucia, Netherlands Antilles, French West Indies, Netherlands Antilles, Curaçao, the Dominican Republic and Haiti. These operations are subject to the rules established under the bilateral air transport agreements entered into by Canada and these respective countries and supranational authorities.

On May 23, 2018, the Parliament of Canada adopted the Transportation Modernization Act. The main elements of this legislation that have directly affected the Corporation are the following:

- (i) the establishment of a framework for an airline passenger rights regime that imposes legal obligations on airlines with respect to tarmac delay management, denied boarding, flight delay/flight cancellation compensation and duty of care, as well as liability standards for the carriage of baggage not currently covered by existing international conventions, the whole as provided in the Air Passenger Protection Regulations ("APPR") which came into force on July 15, 2019. On July 3, 2021, the Agency published Regulations Amending the Air Passenger Protection Regulations ("Amending Regulations") which are primarily intended to modify the obligations of air carriers in the event of delays, denied boarding and cancellations due to situations beyond their control. Since September 8, 2022, the Agency has added new passenger refund obligations to the Amended Regulations;
- (ii) an increase of the maximum number of voting shares of a Canadian-licensed airline that can be beneficially owned by non-Canadians, in certain circumstances, from 25% to 49%, subject to the stated restrictions (see section 7.2 Constraints on Share Ownership);
- (iii) the establishment by the federal minister of transport of an approval process under competition laws for airline joint ventures.

On June 18, 2015, Bill C-51, An Act to enact the Security of Canada Information Sharing Act and the Secure Air Travel Act, to amend the Criminal Code, the Canadian Security Intelligence Service Act and the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and to make related and consequential amendments to other Acts (the "Antiterrorist Act") received royal assent. The Antiterrorist Act seeks to provide a new legislative framework for identifying and responding to persons suspected of threatening transportation security or of travelling by air for the purpose of committing a terrorism offense. The Antiterrorist Act would authorize the Minister of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness to establish a list of such persons and to direct air carriers to take any necessary actions to prevent the commission of such acts. The Minister of Transport would also have the power to seize an aircraft for the purpose of inspecting it and take measures concerning the movement of the aircraft.

Air Transat complies with the provisions applicable to it under the Accessible Transportation for Persons with Disabilities Regulations (the "ATPDR") which came into force on June 25, 2020. Under the provisions of the ATPDR, the Corporation is primarily required to: (i) ensure that its aircraft are accessible by complying with specific technical requirements; (ii) meet communication needs of travellers with disabilities; (iii) provide accessible services; and (iv) make border and security screening more accessible.

On June 14, 2022, the Canadian government introduced Bill C-26, An Act respecting cyber security (Bill C-26), which will eventually introduce significant cybersecurity requirements that will apply to certain federal industries. In particular, Bill C-26 would apply to operators in the transportation sector. Under this legislation, the Canadian government would be able to designate certain systems and services as vital to national security and require the implementation of specific cybersecurity programs with additional disclosure requirements. These changes will have little impact on Transat's practices as it already has an extremely robust program in place.

Air Transat, like Transat Tours, is subject to the Canadian and foreign personal information protection legislation concerning the collection, use, disclosure and protection of passenger and employee data. In Canada, the federal legislation regarding the protection of personal information in the private sector, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (Canada) ("PIPEDA"), governs the collection, use and disclosure of personal information in the course of the commercial activities of a federally regulated business like Air Transat. Moreover, PIPEDA governs the processing of personal information of employees working for federally regulated employers. Subject to certain exceptions, PIPEDA also applies to the collection and to the disclosure of personal information from province to province or between Canada and another country, and within provinces in the absence of substantially similar legislation governing the protection of personal information applicable to the private sector (see below for the situation in Quebec). PIPEDA requires informed consent, either express or implied, of the persons whose personal information is collected and used. The personal information may then be used only for the purposes for which it was initially collected or for other purposes provided or permitted by PIPEDA. Air Transat's privacy policies meet or exceed PIPEDA requirements.

It should be noted that when operating in Quebec, Transat Tours is instead subject to the application of the Act respecting the protection of personal information in the private sector ("Privacy Act"), as amended by the Act to modernize legislative provisions as regards the protection of personal information ("Act 25"). The Privacy Act requires the informed consent, implied or express, as appropriate, of the individuals whose personal information is collected and used. The personal information may then be used only for the purposes for which it was initially collected or for other purposes specified or permitted by the Privacy Act. Transat Tours' privacy policies meet or exceed the requirements of the Privacy Act.

Pursuant to the adoption of An Act to modernize legislative provisions as regards the protection of personal information, new requirements were and will be introduced to the Privacy Act until September 2023. Since September 2022, a privacy officer was appointed pursuant to this act and Transat is now required to report certain confidentiality incidents. Over the last year, we also conducted an in-depth analysis of our practices regarding the protection of personal information. This analysis prompted a review of our privacy policies and the adoption of a cookie management tool.

As at the date of this AIF, Air Transat holds all necessary licenses, certificates and permits and is in compliance, in all material respects, with the requirements of applicable Canadian legislation. Furthermore, all of Air Transat's aircraft meet the ICAO chapter 3 noise requirements implemented by Transport Canada.

On July 1, 2014, An Act to promote the efficiency and adaptability of the Canadian economy by regulating certain activities that discourage reliance on electronic means of carrying out commercial activities, and to amend the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission Act, the Competition Act, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act and the Telecommunications Act came into force. Also called the "Canadian Anti-Spam Act" or "CASA," the Act regulates matters such as the conditions under which commercial electronic messages may be sent. All of the Corporation's Canadian subsidiaries implemented mechanisms ensuring their compliance with the requirements of the CASA before July 1, 2014.

3.7.2.3 Foreign Legislation

In respect of each jurisdiction other than Canada in which Air Transat operates, we must comply with applicable laws and, when necessary, obtain the required licenses, permits and authorizations. We are of the opinion that Air Transat holds all licenses, permits and authorizations necessary for its operations and is in compliance, in all material respects, with the requirements of applicable foreign legislation.

3.7.2.4 IATA

IATA, the International Air Transport Association, is the prime vehicle for inter-airline co-operation in promoting safe, reliable, secure and economical air services for the benefit of the world's consumers. IATA membership is open to both scheduled and non-scheduled airlines. Only airlines operating air services are eligible for IATA membership. However, travel agencies can be registered as IATA-approved agents. Air Transat is a member of IATA.

3.7.2.5 Environmental Regulations

Transat is subject to several pieces of legislation to reduce greenhouse gas emissions in Canada and abroad. This includes carbon taxes, emission trading schemes, and requirements to reduce the carbon intensity of fuels and purchase carbon offset credits.

Canada's Aviation Climate Action Plan 2022-2023

At the 41st Session of the International Civil Aviation Organization ("ICAO") Assembly member States (including Canada) adopted an ambitious long-term goal of carbon neutrality by 2050. Canada's Aviation Climate Action Plan sets out how parties will work together to achieve this goal. Recognizing the importance of sustainable aviation fuels ("SAF"), the plan also includes an ambitious target of 10% SAF use by 2030.

Carbon Offsetting and Reduction Scheme for International Aviation (“CORSIA”)

Air Transat is subject to the Carbon Offsetting and Reduction Scheme for International Aviation (“CORSIA”). Transport Canada takes into account the implementation of CORSIA via the Canadian Aviation Regulations (the “CARs”). Under CORSIA, any growth in emissions above the applicable base year level will have to be offset by airlines through the purchase of offsetting credits or the use of sustainable aviation fuels. The reference year should initially correspond to the average 2019 and 2020 sector emissions; in the wake of the pandemic, the reference was amended and now corresponds to 85% of sector emissions in 2019.

The airline companies will start fulfilling their CORSIA obligations when the aeronautical industry, as a whole, has reached and exceeded its 2019 emission levels. Determining the costs of this obligation will depend on participating countries, growth on qualified city pairs, and the type of eligible carbon offsets. For the 2021-2023 period, Air Transat's compliance needs have been estimated and do not constitute a material financial risk.

Emissions Trading Scheme in Europe

Air Transat is subject to the regulation concerning the EU's Emissions Trading Scheme (“EU-ETS”) for aviation and that of the UK (“UK-ETS”). The EU-ETS only governs intra-EEA (“European Economic Association”) flights and the UK-ETS governs intra-UK flights. These systems require the monitoring, verification and reporting of emissions from subjected flights. The costs associated with these systems are currently not significant for Air Transat as they represent a very small percentage of its overall routes.

In connection with the Green Deal, the EU published the Fit for 55 Package. The package includes the ReFuelEU provision for aviation, which was adopted by the European council and Parliament in October 2023. The provision requires aviation fuel suppliers to ensure a minimum share of SAF in all fuel made available to aircraft operators in EU airports starting in 2025. In addition, starting in 2030 a proportion of e-SAF will be prescribed and will increase until 2050. This provision will pose a significant challenge, as these types of fuels are not widely available to the aviation sector and are significantly more expensive than conventional aviation fuel.

Canada's Greenhouse Gas Pollution Pricing Act

To meet its commitments under the Paris Agreement, the Canadian government has set a minimum price for carbon under the Greenhouse Gas Pollution Pricing Act that applies in the provinces and territories that do not have a carbon pricing system. The price per tonne of carbon was $65 in 2023 and will continue to increase by $15 per year thereafter, reaching $170 in 2030. Only flights to and from the same province are subject to this tax. Some provinces, such as British Columbia, have already begun to tax fuel on intra-provincial flights. Since Air Transat has almost no intra-provincial flights, it will not incur a significant economic impact as a result. The Government of Canada recognizes in Canada's Aviation Climate Action Plan the need to do more work to establish a consistent policy to address interprovincial aviation emissions. In the future, the Canadian government may decide to implement an emissions trading system for domestic flights, which would have an impact on our costs.

The Canadian Clean Fuel Regulations are an important part of Canada's climate plan to reduce emissions, accelerate the use of clean fuels and technologies, and support long-term sustainable jobs in a diversified economy. However, the version of the regulations published on July 6, 2022, excludes aviation fuel. Sustainable aviation fuel is eligible to create compliance credits. Given that there is still no commercially produced SAF in Canada, this first incentive is important, but other means will be necessary to accelerate the production and use of SAF in Canada.

3.7.3 Data Protection and Cybersecurity

Cybersecurity is a priority for Transat to support the Corporation's digital transformation, optimize the services provided to our customers and comply with regulations. Under the direction of the Chief Information Security Officer, our teams and partners implement and oversee the cybersecurity program, which consists of policies, standards and controls designed to manage risks related to the confidentiality, integrity and availability of all data, applications and systems.

More particularly, Transat takes protecting the confidential and privacy of personal information relating to its customers, employees and business partners very seriously. Since 2018, we have been applying the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) to all of our operations, including in Canada, although it is more demanding than Canada's Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA). As required by the European regulation, we have appointed a Data Protection Officer, who is supported by a cybersecurity team. Please see section 3.7.2.2 for more information regarding the protection and confidentiality of personal information relating to the Corporation's customers, employees and business partners.

The cybersecurity program aims to continuously strengthen and modernize our IT security processes and measures. Moreover, Transat has put in place a team of experts and a security breach response plan to help guide its actions and mitigate the damage should a breach occur.

Finally, we believe that our employees are our best line of defense against cybercrime and we do everything in our power to ensure that they acquire the proper reflexes when faced with fraudulent acts, like phishing. This is why we require all staff to undergo regular mandatory cybersecurity and privacy training, supplemented by monthly phishing campaigns.

3.8 Corporate Responsibility

Transat is committed to deploying its operations in a sustainable way and focuses on actions that have a positive impact on all of its stakeholders. The day-to-day management of risks and opportunities relating to environmental, social and governance ("ESG") issues is provided by Transat's Corporate Responsibility Department ("CR"). Since 2022, this department has been led by the Vice-President of Corporate Responsibility who reports directly to the Chief People, Sustainability and Communications Officer who is also an executive officer.

During 2023, Transat adopted a 2024-2026 Corporate Responsibility Plan, which is based on three main pillars: people, planet and sustainable practices. An overview of our environmental protection, social engagement and good governance (ESG) strategy and performance is presented in our 2022-2023 Corporate Responsibility Report. This report, which covers the period from November 1, 2021, to October 31, 2023, was prepared based on the recommendations of the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) to guide the discourse related to our overall approach on sustainability and how we address each issue. Transat's climate governance, strategy, risks and performance are also outlined in its report based on the recommendations of the TCFD released in May 2023.

3.8.1 People

Transat is committed to maximizing the development and well-being of its employees and to fostering a caring, safe and inclusive work environment. This vision percolates down to our customers to whom we aspire to offer the safest and most accessible experience.

Aviation safety and occupational health and safety

The safety of our customers, staff and partners takes precedence in everything we do. At all times, we are committed to enforcing the highest industry standards for aviation safety, which means absolute compliance with current regulations. In December 2023, Air Transat once again successfully renewed its IOSA certification. IOSA certification is renewed every two years and demonstrates our commitment to the industry's highest standards of quality and safety. For more information, please see section 3.1.2 (Maintenance, Inspections, Safety and Other Measures).

Diversity, equity, inclusion and accessibility

We believe our success depends on the diversity of our staff, a true reflection of our customers, our partners and the communities where we operate. To support our ambition, we have begun a process of formalizing and communicating our DEI commitments to all our teams in 2023. Transat also deployed a self-identification survey to all its employees, in order to be better equipped to assess the Corporation's diversity profile, intensify its inclusion initiatives and define its objectives and targets. Awareness workshops and DEI training were also implemented.

Transat recognizes the fundamental right of every passenger to be treated with dignity and respect. We are committed to honoring our obligations to identify, prevent and eliminate barriers for people living with disabilities, for both our customers and our employees. In accordance with the Accessible Canada Act, Transat, through its subsidiary Air Transat, has developed its first accessibility plan which is intended to evolve and will be implemented from 2023 to 2025.

3.8.2 Planet

Transat is committed to minimizing the negative environmental impacts of its business, thanks to a strategy focusing on the fight against climate change. Transat has several processes in place to ensure that it complies with the provisions of environmental laws and regulations applicable to its operations. The day-to-day management of environmental and climate risks, including a follow-up of the environmental management system, is provided by Transat's RE Department, a team dedicated to sustainable development and ESG. We are therefore able to develop plans to mitigate our environmental impacts and respect our environmental compliance obligations.

Climate Action Plan

To guide our actions, we have developed an ambitious decarbonization plan that aims to eliminate net carbon emissions by 2050. We have identified a target to reduce our net emissions of CO₂ per revenue tonne-kilometre (RTK) by 24% by 2030, compared to 2019. In order to achieve net zero emissions by 2050, we will need to use all commercial and economic levers currently available, including fleet renewal, sustainable aviation fuel ("SAF"), operational efficiency and purchase of carbon credits to offset residual emissions. Transat's climate plan involves certain assumptions and certain elements beyond its control; it will evolve depending on the availability of next generation aircraft, the availability of SAF, and government policies.

The renewal of our fleet continues. In 2020, Air Transat retired the last aircraft in its former Airbus A310 fleet. These aircraft were replaced by the Airbus A321LR, a new generation of planes recognized as the most energy efficient in their category. This transition represents a 15% reduction in fuel consumption, 50% less of nitrogen oxide emissions and 50% less noise.

Transat considers SAF to be a key element in achieving its carbon emissions reduction goal. However, at this time, the volumes of SAF that are produced are not meeting the needs of the industry and, in Canada, SAF is still not commercially produced. Conscious of the important role we can play in the development of a local SAF industry, we signed a long-term SAF purchase agreement with the SAF+ Consortium in 2021. The technology used at its first plant located in Montreal will produce synthetic fuel by capturing CO₂ from industrial sources and combining it with Quebec-produced green hydrogen.

Transat is also relying on a rigorous fuel management program that was deployed in 2004. This program helps improve the fuel efficiency of our flight and ground airline operations.

Despite significant technological advances in the fields of aeronautics and sustainable fuel production, compensation solutions through the purchase of mandatory and voluntary carbon credits remain necessary to achieve the decarbonization of the industry and are now part of our strategy. In September 2023, in partnership with CHOOOSE, Transat launched its Act on Your Carbon Footprint program. This program gives customers the option of calculating and reducing their travel-related GHG emissions by contributing to climate projects. This program does not replace or minimize Transat's decarbonization commitments. It is a voluntary engagement option for passengers who wish to offset the emissions associated with their travels.

3.8.3 Responsible Practices

In order to increase the positive impact within our communities, both here and at destination, the Corporation is committed to establishing and maintaining healthy and mutually beneficial relationships with its employees, partners, suppliers, customers and other key players in the communities in which it operates.

Responsible sourcing

As a global leader, we have a duty to use of our influence to evolve sustainable practices. That said, all members of the supply chain have a role to play in helping transform our industry. In this regard, the Corporation relies on the cooperation of all its suppliers and expects them to meet the highest standards of quality and ethics, as defined in its responsible sourcing policy.

The supply of goods and services is governed by a number of operating philosophies and principles that guide our strategies and practices and which are consistent with Transat's global growth plan. To this end, a formal code of conduct sets out ESG requirements for suppliers who do business with the Corporation. Previously intended for tourism service providers, the code of conduct was revised in 2023 to extend its scope to all Transat suppliers. This review also made it possible to further explain and amend a certain number of elements to better reflect our commitments and our current requirements in relation to the principles defended by the Code of Conduct.

Community Engagement

For several years now, we have been doing more and more philanthropic work with organizations that support causes that are close to our hearts. The Corporation invests in communities by prioritizing areas of humanitarian aid, education, child protection, health and culture. Since 2009, Transat has launched an annual workplace fundraising campaign for two organizations that are working to improve the quality of life in underprivileged populations: Centraide of Greater Montreal and SOS Children's Villages. As part of the latest edition, we donated more than $220,000 to Centraide of Greater Montreal and SOS Children's Villages, bringing total donations to $2.6 million since 2009.

In June 2022, we announced a partnership with 4Ukraine.ca, a Montreal-based NPO, to help Ukrainians displaced by war relocate to Canada. Thanks to this collaboration, we have enabled nearly 1,000 Ukrainians to reach Canadian soil with the hope of building a better life.

3.9 Risk Factors

We are subject to a number of risks and other factors that could affect demand for our product offering, some of which are related or inherent to the travel industry in general. Please see the “Risks and Uncertainties” section of our Management’s Discussion and Analysis for the year ended October 31, 2023, available for consultation on SEDAR+ (www.sedarplus.ca).

4. THREE-YEAR HISTORY

Information on activities and other material events during the past three years is set out below.

DECEMBER 2023

On December 12, 2023, Transat A.T. Inc. announced the appointment of Jean-François Pruneau as Chief Financial Officer. Mr. Pruneau will take office on January 9, 2024.

NOVEMBER 2023

On November 28, 2023, Air Transat, air carrier subsidiary of the Corporation, and Porter Airlines (“Porter”) announced the creation of a transformative joint venture for the benefit of Canadian travellers which will strengthen their existing code-sharing agreement by creating a joint venture (the “Alliance”), transforming the current Canadian aviation competitive landscape. By combining both airlines' complementary networks, this Alliance offers travelers significant benefits, including enhanced travel options across multiple regions. The Alliance expands services between North, Central and South America, Europe, North Africa, Mexico and the Caribbean, integrating Porter’s and Transat’s highly complementary, non-overlapping networks at Toronto Pearson (YYZ) and Montreal Trudeau (YUL) airports.

FISCAL 2023

On October 26, 2023, Air Transat announced that it will offer non-stop service between Montreal and Marrakech, Morocco, starting next June. This will make it the only airline in North America to offer non-stop flights to this Moroccan city, which will be operated twice a week in the summer (June to October) and once a week in the winter (November to April).

On October 20, 2023, the Corporation announced that Patrick Bui, Chief Financial Officer, will be stepping down from his position on December 15, 2023, to pursue another career opportunity and will remain in his role to ensure a smooth transition, including through the announcement of the Corporation's results for the fiscal year ending October 31, 2023.

On September 21, 2023, CAE and Air Transat announced the launch of Ascension Academy, a new cadet training program that enables the airline to build a pipeline of qualified pilots trained to the highest standards. The Ascension Academy program offers aspiring pilots a pathway to earn their wings at CAE's flight academy, and the opportunity to begin their career as a second-in-command upon completion of their type rating with Air Transat. Applications will be accepted for training beginning in February 2024.

On August 31, 2023, the Corporation completed the sale of its land in Puerto Morelos, Mexico, for US$38 million to Finest Resorts, a luxury resort group, part of the Excellence Collection.

Initially announced on July 10, this transaction will enable Transat to pursue its strategic plan of refocusing on its airline activities.

On August 15, 2023, Air Transat announced that it is continuing to develop its virtual interlining service with the addition of Brazilian carrier Azul Airlines to its connectair by Air Transat platform. Quebec-based travellers can now combine select Air Transat and Azul Airlines flights to destinations such as Sao Paulo (VCP) and Manaus (MAO) in Brazil, via a layover in Fort Lauderdale or Orlando in Florida.

This addition brings the total number of partners accessible through the connectair by Air Transat platform to 12 and the number of additional destinations available in Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, Central and South America, and Canada to more than 280.

On August 11, 2023, Air Transat announced that it will offer exclusive direct flights to Lima, Peru, from both Montreal and Toronto this winter, subject to regulatory approvals.

On June 28, 2023, Air Transat announced that is continuing to strengthen its virtual interlining service by adding Norwegian's flights to its innovative connectair by Air Transat platform. Travellers from Canada can now combine select Air Transat and Norwegian flights, making it easier to travel to Norway (Oslo, Stavanger, Bergen and Trondheim).

This addition brings the total number of partners accessible through the connectair by Air Transat platform to 11 and the number of additional destinations available in Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, Central and South America, and Canada to more than 275.

On June 20, 2023, Air Transat announced that it had been named the World's Best Leisure Airline for the fifth time at the Skytrax World Airline Awards.

On June 12, 2023, Air Transat announced that it was expanding its virtual interlining service by integrating ASL Airlines France flights to its innovative connectair by Air Transat platform. Travelers from Canada can now combine select Air Transat and ASL Airlines France flights, making it easier to fly to Algeria (Algiers, Annaba, Bejaïa) via a connection at Paris Charles-de-Gaulle or Lyon.

This addition brings the total number of partners accessible through the connectair by Air Transat platform to 10 and the number of additional destinations available in Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, Central and South America, and Canada to more than 275.

On May 9, 2023, for the third edition of the Journey for Change program, the Corporation announced that it had partnered with Iberostar Hotels & Resorts and the University of Guelph's School of Hospitality, Food and Tourism Management for an international field study program that provides 12 students with a unique experience in the Dominican Republic. The goal of this initiative is to offer a unique hands-on experience for tomorrow's leaders in sustainable travel. The program includes a rich variety of topics and workshops, including responsible sourcing, food waste prevention and composting, coral reef rehabilitation, mangrove planting, beach clean-ups, and community centre visits.

On April 12, 2023, Air Transat announced that, for the second time this year, it is expanding its operations in the French market, most notably on two exclusive direct routes departing from Montreal. Following the announcement earlier this winter of its year-round service to Lyon, the airline is also adding Marseille and the region of Provence to its roster of year-round destinations. shares for which the offer is made, and in all material respects, including in respect of the conditions attaching thereto. The offer to purchase the Voting Shares must be unconditional, subject to the exception that the offer for the Voting Shares may contain a condition to the effect that the offeror is not required to take up and pay for Voting Shares deposited pursuant to the offer if no shares are purchased pursuant to the contemporaneous offer for the Variable Voting Shares; or

(iii) holders of more than sixty-six and two-thirds percent ($66\frac{2}{3}\%$) of the then outstanding Variable Voting Shares (excluding shares owned immediately prior to the offer by the offeror and any joint actor) certify to the transfer agent and to the secretary of the Corporation that they will not deposit any shares in response to the offer for the Variable Voting Shares.

7.1.2.6 Constraints on Ownership

The Voting Shares may only be owned and controlled by persons who are Canadians.

7.1.3 Preferred Shares

The Preferred Shares, if issued, will rank prior to the Variable Voting Shares and the Voting Shares with respect to the payment of dividends and the distribution of assets. In the event of the dissolution or liquidation of the Corporation or the distribution of its capital, no amount shall be paid and no asset shall be distributed to the holders of shares of any other class of the Corporation until the holders of the Preferred Shares receive an amount equal to the value of the consideration received by the Corporation upon the issuance of such shares and, in the case of Preferred Shares of a series entitled to cumulative dividends, of all dividends then accrued and unpaid, and, for Preferred Shares of a series entitled to non-cumulative dividends, of all dividends declared thereon and unpaid, if any, plus any other amount, if any, determined by the directors in respect of each series prior to the issue of any Preferred Shares of such series. The holders of the Preferred Shares of a particular series shall be entitled to the payment of this entire amount from the assets of the Corporation in preference and prior to the holders of any other class of shares of the capital of the Corporation.

7.2 Constraints on Share Ownership

Class A Variable Voting Shares

An unlimited number of participating Class A Variable Voting Shares ("Class A Shares"), which may be owned or controlled only by non-Canadians as defined by the Canada Transportation Act ("CTA"), carry one vote per share at any meeting of shareholders subject to an automatic reduction of the voting rights attached thereto in the event that [i] any non-Canadian, individually or in affiliation with another person, holds more than 25% of the votes cast, [ii] any non-Canadian authorized to provide an air service in any jurisdiction (in aggregate) holds more than 25% of the votes cast, or [iii] the votes that would be cast by holders of Class A Shares would be more than 49%. If any of the above-mentioned applicable limitations are exceeded, the votes that should be attributed to holders of Class A Shares will be attributed as follows:

- first, if applicable, there will be a reduction in the voting rights of any non-Canadian individual (including a non-Canadian authorized to provide an air service) whose votes total more than 25% of the votes cast, so that such non-Canadian holder may never hold more than 25% (or such other percentage as may be prescribed by an act or regulation of Canada and approved or adopted by the directors of the Corporation) of the total votes cast at a meeting;

- next, if applicable, and once the pro rata distribution as described above is made, a further pro rata reduction will be made in the voting rights of all non-Canadian holders of Class A Shares authorized to provide an air service, so that such non-Canadian holders may never hold votes totalling more than 25% (or such other percentage as may be prescribed by an act or regulation of Canada and approved or adopted by the directors of the Corporation) of the total votes cast, all classes combined, at a meeting;
- last, if applicable, and once the two pro rata allocations described above have been made, a proportional reduction will be made in the voting rights of all holders of Class A Shares, so that all non-Canadian holders of Class A Shares may never hold votes totalling more than 49% (or such other percentage as may be prescribed by an act or regulation of Canada and approved or adopted by the directors of the Corporation) of the total votes cast, all classes combined, at a meeting.

Each issued and outstanding Class A Share shall be automatically converted into one Class B Voting Share without any further action on the part of the Corporation or of the holder if [i] the Class A Share is or becomes owned or controlled by a Canadian as defined by the CTA; or [ii] the provisions contained in the CTA relating to foreign ownership restrictions are repealed and not replaced with other similar provisions.

Class B Voting Shares

An unlimited number of participating Class B Voting Shares ["Class B Shares"], which may only be owned and controlled by Canadians within the meaning of the CTA, and entitling such Canadians to one vote per Class B Share at any meeting of the shareholders of the Corporation. Each issued and outstanding Class B Share shall be converted into one Class A Share automatically without any further action on the part of the Corporation or the holder if the Class B Share is or becomes owned or controlled by a non-Canadian as defined by the CTA.

7.3 Information and Reporting

Transat or its transfer agent will provide the shareholders, in accordance with the applicable securities legislation, with Transat's financial statements (including the annual and quarterly financial statements) and other reports required by the applicable laws, including the prescribed forms required by the shareholders to file their tax returns in accordance with the Income Tax Act and the equivalent provincial legislation.

Before each shareholder meeting, Transat's Board of Directors will provide the shareholders (with the Notice of Meeting) with a form of proxy and all the information that must be provided to them under the applicable laws and the TSX rules.

To Transat's knowledge, no director or executive officer of the Corporation, or a shareholder holding a sufficient number of securities of the Corporation to affect materially the control of the Corporation is, as at the date of the AIF, or was, within 10 years before the date of the AIF, a director or executive officer of any company that:

- (ii) was subject to a cease trade or similar order or an order that denied the relevant company access to any exemption under securities legislation, that was issued after that person ceased to act in that capacity, was in effect for a period of more than 30 consecutive days and resulted from an event that occurred while that person was acting in that capacity; or
- (iii) became bankrupt, made a proposal under any legislation relating to bankruptcy or insolvency or was subject to or instituted any proceedings, arrangement or compromise with creditors or had a receiver, receiver manager or trustee appointed to hold its assets while that person was acting in that capacity or within a year of that person ceasing to act in that capacity;

except for the following directors:

- Mr. Stéphane Lefebvre, who was a director of Cirque du Soleil, a company that filed for protection under the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act ("CCAA") in Canada on July 24, 2020, and Chapter 15 in the United States on June 30, 2020, as a result of the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. An acquisition transaction by existing secured creditors was approved by the Quebec Superior Court on October 26, 2020. The restructuring process in Canada and the United States was successfully completed on July 12, 2022, with a plan of arrangement duly approved by the creditors, approved by the Court and duly implemented. On November 27, 2017, it filed an application for a stay of bankruptcy with the bankruptcy judge due to financial difficulties following several unfavourable market events, including the loss of aircraft charter contracts. It was declared bankrupt on December 13, 2017, under the Loi fédérale sur la poursuite pour dettes et la faillite (LP).

9.4 Penalties or Sanctions

To the best of the knowledge of Transat, no director or executive officer of Transat has been subject to: (a) any penalties or sanctions imposed by a court relating to securities legislation or by a securities regulatory authority or has entered into a settlement agreement with a securities regulatory authority; or (b) any other penalties or sanctions imposed by a court or regulatory body that would likely be considered important to a reasonable investor in making an investment decision.

9.5 Personal Bankruptcies

To the best of Transat's knowledge, no director or executive officer has declared bankruptcy, made a proposal under any legislation relating to bankruptcy or insolvency, or was subject to or instituted any proceedings, arrangement or compromise with creditors, or had a receiver, receiver manager or trustee appointed to hold its assets.

10. INTEREST OF MANAGEMENT AND OTHERS IN MATERIAL TRANSACTIONS

None of the following persons: (i) directors or executive officers of the Corporation, (ii) shareholders of the Corporation who, to the knowledge of the Corporation, beneficially own or control or direct more than 10% of any class of shares of the Corporation, (iii) any associate or affiliate of the persons referred to in (i) and (ii), has or has had any material interest, direct or indirect, in any transaction within the three most recently completed financial years or during the current financial year that has materially affected or is reasonably expected to materially affect the Corporation.

11. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

In the normal course of business, the Corporation is exposed to various claims and legal proceedings. There are often many uncertainties surrounding these disputes and the outcome of the individual cases is unpredictable. According to management, these claims and proceedings are adequately provided for or covered by insurance policies and their settlement should not have a significant negative impact on the Corporation's financial position, subject to the paragraph hereunder. The Corporation has directors' and officers' liability insurance and professional liability insurance, with coverage under said insurance policies that is usually sufficient to pay amounts that the Corporation may be required to disburse in connection with these lawsuits that are specific to the directors and officers, and not the Corporation. In addition, the Corporation holds professional liability and general liability insurance for lawsuits relating to non-bodily or bodily injuries sustained. In all these lawsuits, the Corporation has always defended itself vigorously and intends to continue to do so.

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Corporation has been the subject of a number of applications for authorization to institute class actions in connection with the reimbursement of customer deposits for airline tickets and packages that had to be cancelled. While some of these applications have not yet been definitively settled, the Corporation has refunded almost all of the customers, particularly since April 2021, using the unsecured credit facility related to travel credits. Consequently, applications for authorization to institute class actions that have not yet been settled may become moot. In any event, the Corporation will continue to defend itself vigorously in this respect. If the Corporation had to pay an amount related to class actions, the unfavourable effect of the settlement would be recognized in the consolidated statement of income (loss) and could have an unfavourable effect on cash.

11.1 Other

From time to time, the Corporation is subject to audits by tax authorities that give rise to questions regarding the tax treatment of certain transactions. Certain of these matters could entail significant costs that will remain uncertain until one or more events occur or fail to occur. Although the outcome of such matters is difficult to predict with certainty, the tax claims and risks for which there is a probable unfavourable outcome are recognized by the Corporation using the best possible estimates of the amount of the loss.

In previous fiscal years, the tax authorities had questioned the deductibility of tax losses the Corporation reported on its ABCP (Asset-Backed Commercial Paper) investments. In relation to this situation, in 2015, the Corporation paid a total of $15.1 million to the tax authorities and objected to the notices of assessment received. During the year ended October 31, 2022, the Corporation and the tax authorities came to an agreement on the tax treatment of the deductibility of ABCP-related tax losses. As a result, under this settlement agreement, in addition to recovering the $15.1 million paid in 2015, the Corporation recorded an additional income tax recovery of $5.3 million and interest of $2.1 million. As at October 31, 2022, the income tax receivable balance included an amount of $4.9 million related to this settlement agreement while the accounts receivable balance included an amount of $1.9 million related to accrued interest receivable. During the year ended October 31, 2023, the Corporation collected all the receivables related to this settlement agreement.

12. TRANSFER AGENT AND REGISTRAR

As at the date of this AIF, the transfer agent and registrar for Transat's shares is TSX Trust Company, 1190 des Canadiens-de-Montréal Avenue, Suite 1700, Montreal, Quebec H3B 0G7. Its registrar offices are located in Toronto, Montreal, Calgary and Vancouver.

13. INTERESTS OF EXPERTS

Ernst & Young LLP is the independent auditor who prepared the independent auditor's report to shareholders with respect to the Corporation's consolidated financial statements for the years ended October 31, 2023, and October 31, 2022, included in the Corporation's 2023 Annual Report. Ernst & Young LLP has confirmed to the Corporation that it is independent within the meaning of the Rules of Professional Conduct of the Ordre des comptables professionnels agréés du Québec.

14. MATERIAL CONTRACTS

On April 29, 2021, the Corporation entered into an important agreement with the Government of Canada, which allows it to borrow up to $312.0 million, allowing drawdowns to be made until October 29, 2022, under a non-renewable and unsecured credit facility that expires on April 29, 2026. This agreement was entered into through the LEEFF and is part of the maximum additional liquidity of up to $700.0 million obtained by the Corporation from the Canada Enterprise Emergency Funding Corporation.

For further details of this agreement, please refer to our Management's Discussion and Analysis for the year ended October 31, 2023, which can be found on SEDAR+ (www.sedarplus.ca).

15.5 Complaint Procedures for Accounting and Auditing Matters

In compliance with Regulation 52-110 respecting Audit Committees, and as part of our efforts to maintain a high standard of good corporate governance, we developed a whistleblower policy and reporting procedures that allow Transat employees to report, in a confidential manner, any concerns they may have regarding questionable accounting practices, internal accounting controls or auditing matters. Complaints may be addressed separately to the attention of the Chief Legal and Government Relations Officer and Corporate Secretary of Transat or the Vice-President, Internal Audit and Risk Management. At each Audit Committee meeting, members receive a report indicating whether any complaints have been filed regarding accounting or auditing matters. Moreover, as part of Transat's Code of Ethics, we have introduced, in recent years, a whistleblower process by providing an email address, "Ethic@transat.com," through which only three persons receive notification of this reporting: the Chief People, Sustainability and Communications Officer, the Chief Legal and Government Relations Officer and Corporate Secretary and the Vice-President, Internal Audit and Risk Management. All reports are reviewed and handled by the responsible person or persons. The Code of Ethics must be reviewed annually by all employees, who are required to sign a certificate to that effect.
