About Helix BioPharma

Helix BioPharma is an oncology company that innovates from strength to bring near-term solutions for today’s hardest-to-treat cancers. The Company’s pipeline is led by Tumor Defense Breaker™ L-DOS47, a clinical-stage antibody-enzyme conjugate designed to prime CEACAM6-expressing tumors for increased sensitivity to therapy and augment the effectiveness of today’s front-running anti-cancer treatments. L-DOS47 has completed Phase Ib studies in non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC) and shares its CEACAM6-targeting foundation with Helix’s next-generation bi-specific antibody-drug conjugates (ADCs), currently in discovery. The Company also advances two pre-IND candidates: (i) LEUMUNA™, an oral immune checkpoint modulator aimed at achieving durable remission in post-transplant leukemia relapse, and (ii) GEMCEDA™, a first-in-class oral gemcitabine prodrug with bioavailability on a par with IV, designed to expand treatment options for advanced cancers.

Helix is listed on TSX (HBP), OTC PINK (HBPCD), and FWB (HBP0). For more information, please visit: <https://www.helixbiopharma.com/>
