5.0 Purchase, Delivery and Marketing Obligations

5.01 Subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein, the Seller shall sell and deliver to the Purchaser, and the Purchaser shall purchase and take delivery from the Seller, the Total Initial Annual Plant Production. For certainty hereunder, the Purchaser, and no other party, shall have the exclusive right to purchase the Total Initial Annual Plant Production from the Seller. The Parties acknowledge that the estimated Total Initial Annual Plant Production as of the date hereof is approximately 2,600 bbls per day in total of the Products. As long as the actual production of the Products is within a reasonable range of this estimate, the Purchaser shall be obliged to take delivery of all such production. However, if from time to time the production is significantly higher than this estimate, the Purchaser shall have the right, but not the obligation, to take all such production. The Parties shall have regular discussions with respect to the production volumes.

5.02 If, from time to time during the Contract Term, the Seller expands or modifies the Plant and produces additional volumes or one or more of the Products or begins to produce different petrochemical products, the Purchaser shall have the unilateral right, but not the obligation, to amend this Agreement to add any or all of such additional volumes to this Agreement to be marketed on terms to be negotiated in good faith by the Parties at such time.

5.03 During the Contract Term, and for the purpose of carrying out the Purchaser's obligations hereunder:

- (a) the Seller shall provide the Purchaser with such access to the Plant as may be necessary to take delivery of Product produced by the Plant in accordance with the Seller's estimated weekly production;
- (b) the Purchaser and Seller shall, in good faith, attempt to coordinate delivery of Product in order to accord with the requirements of Purchaser's Customer sales contracts; and

 - i. handle and supervise the loading, dispatch and delivery of Product to the Purchaser's carriers,
 - ii. prepare and distribute delivery documentation and generally be responsible for all ancillary matters, and
 - iii. supply all equipment necessary to load the Purchaser's carriers at the Plant without charge to the Purchaser.

5.04 The Purchaser retains sole responsibility for purchase and sale and marketing of the Plant's production. In order to fulfill this responsibility, the Purchaser shall enter into sales agreements for the sales of Product hereunder to any third party Customer Purchaser wishes.

5.05 The Purchaser agrees to diligently pursue, secure and maintain all necessary agreements to transport Product from the Plant to the Delivery Point.

5.06 The Purchaser will plan its resources (including but not limited to staffing levels and truck and railcar leasing and deployment) on the basis of the scheduled Commercial Operations Date and the production estimates contemplated in Sections 4.01, 4.02, and 4.03. If the actual Commercial Operations Date and/or production volumes differ from the scheduled Commercial Operations Date and/or production volumes for any given month, then:

- (a) Purchaser will make commercially reasonable efforts to mitigate the costs that result from these differences, and
- (b) Seller will reimburse Purchaser, as liquidated damages and not a penalty, for any and all costs that result from the differences, including without limitation increased staffing costs, costs with respect to idle railcars (lease costs for unused railcars, detention charges, etc.) and trucks, and penalties or other charges that Purchaser is required to pay to customers as a result of failing to meet supply commitments. Such costs shall be supported by reasonable backup, and shall not be subject to any markup by the Purchaser. Such reimbursement shall, at the Seller's option, be paid (i) by an immediate lump sum payment made by the Seller to the Purchaser, or (ii) by increasing the Marketing Fee for up to [Redacted – Timing] subsequent months by sufficient additional percentage points to ensure full reimbursement within that [Redacted – Timing] month period, until the Purchaser has been fully reimbursed.

6.0 Annual Marketing Plan

6.01 Not later than [Redacted – Timing] days prior to the commencement of each year within the Contract Term, the Purchaser shall compile and submit a marketing plan to the Seller for the Seller's consultation, information and approval, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld. The marketing plan shall reflect the production capabilities of the Seller, the estimates provided by the Seller under Sections 4.01 and 4.03 and the experience of the Parties arising from the prior year's production schedule. The marketing plan for any particular year shall include:

- (a) a summary of the purchase and sale activities of the Purchaser for the prior period under this Agreement;
- (b) a preliminary schedule of quantities of Product to be sold and marketed by the Purchaser for the ensuing year, and their geographic/market areas;
- (c) projected Product prices for each geographic/market areas;
- (d) projected costs for transportation from the Plant to each geographic/market areas; and
- (e) calculated net Product prices FOB the Plant.

6.02 The Parties acknowledge that the Purchaser is free to sell Product for whatever price it chooses, provided Purchaser takes reasonable commercial efforts to maximize the Purchase Price in accordance with the approved annual marketing plan as described in Article 6.01. The purpose of the marketing plan is to allow each of the Parties to plan its activities and finances for the ensuing period and to enhance cooperation between the Parties.

6.03 The Purchaser's representatives shall meet with the Seller's representatives (collectively, such representatives being the "Marketing Committee") at least quarterly during each year of the Contract Term to discuss the then current marketing plan and any issues and required actions associated therewith as same relates to current and projected market conditions. At such meetings, the Purchaser shall provide the Seller with a written progress report for that portion of the current year of the Contract Term that has been completed and projections of activities and Product prices for that portion of the current year that has yet to be completed.

7.0 Quantity

7.01 Subject to Section 7.02 hereof and in conjunction with Article 4.0, delivery and receipt of volumes of Product hereunder shall take place at the Plant at uniform weekly rates, as nearly as is practical, such that Product delivered in any one month shall approximately equal 1/12th of the total production from the Plant during such year.

7.02 The Purchaser understands that Seller generally has one or more scheduled Plant shutdowns each year for maintenance, as well as periodic unscheduled plant shutdowns outside the Seller's control that may affect the uniformity of the volumes of Product to be delivered under this Agreement. The Seller shall use its best efforts to ensure that such shutdowns will have as little impact as possible on the rateable delivery of Product to the Purchaser. The Seller covenants that it will provide the Purchaser with not less than [Redacted – Timing] days' prior written notice of any scheduled production downtime and/or scheduled interruptions to Product availability/delivery;

7.03 The quantity of Product delivered to the Purchaser from the Plant shall be established by outbound meter tickets or per certified scale expressed in net temperature-corrected gallons in accordance with standards commonly used within the industry in Canada. The meter and/or scale tickets shall be obtained from meters/scales which are certified as of the time of loading and which shall comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations. The outbound meter and/or scale tickets shall be determinative, in the absence of fraud or manifest error of the quantity of Product for which Purchaser is obligated to pay pursuant to Article 9.0 hereof.

7.04 In the event of a discrepancy of more than [Redacted – Percentage]% between loaded and unloaded volumes, a discrepancy affidavit will be filed using an agreed upon neutral third party witness. The findings of the third party will be taken as the official unload volume of the carrier vessel and with any shortage reimbursed by the Seller to the Purchaser or any overage reimbursed by the Purchaser to the Seller. Fees for the third party witness, should any be charged, will be paid equally and jointly by the Seller and Purchaser.

8.0 Quality

8.01 All Product delivered by the Seller to the Purchaser hereunder shall meet or exceed applicable industry standards and shall conform to the specifications set forth in Schedule A hereto at the time of delivery of such Product by the Seller to the Purchaser hereunder.

8.02 If Product does not meet the standards set forth in Schedule A hereto when delivered by the Seller to the Purchaser's carriers, and quality claims arise as a result thereof, such quality claims will be administered by the Purchaser upon notice to the Seller and shall be solely for the Seller's account, and Purchaser shall not be responsible in any manner whatsoever for such claims or any costs or expenses related thereto. Purchaser shall not charge Seller for the administration costs associated with the administration of such claims but Seller will remain responsible for external legal costs and non-administrative settlement costs. Purchaser shall not bind Seller in any settlement without Seller's prior written consent.

9.0 Product Pricing and Payment

9.01 With respect to each gallon of Product lifted by the Purchaser at the Delivery Point, the Purchaser shall pay to the Seller:

[Redacted – Purchase Price Calculation] (the "Purchase Price").

9.02 The Purchaser shall use commercially reasonable efforts and methods to influence market selection, the price obtained for Product sold to Customers, and Transportation and Other Costs, in order to maximize the Purchase Price.

9.03 Purchaser and Seller mutually recognize that from time to time Purchaser may be able to develop an opportunity to optimize around the fuel marketing plan that will allow Seller to capture a netback greater than netbacks received with the base contracts put in place to market the fuel (a “value-added transaction”). Examples of value-added transactions may include the development of an alternative niche for the fuel through continuous market development and by specification changes to the fuel, as well as creative hedge strategies.

Purchaser will present value-added transactions to the Seller for approval prior to execution with a written strategy and calculation showing the expected added margin. Seller has the sole discretion to accept or reject the value-added opportunity. If Seller accepts the opportunity, the value-added margin will be shared at the ratio of [Redacted – Margin]% for the Purchaser and [Redacted – Margin] % for the Seller. If a value-added transactions extends for a period greater than [Redacted – Timing] months, the marketing plan will be updated to reflect same and it will then be considered to be the new normal pricing and no longer eligible for value added margin split beyond that date.

9.04 The Seller shall pay or cause to be paid all valid levies, assessments, duties, rates and taxes (collectively, “Taxes”) on Product delivered hereunder. Where any Taxes are included in the price payable by the Purchaser or by any Customer, the Purchase Price hereunder shall be net after such Taxes.

9.05 For all Product purchased by the Purchaser from the Seller hereunder and shipped from the Plant during a one-week period beginning on Monday and ending on the following Sunday, the Purchaser shall pay the actual Purchase Price, if known, or an estimate of the Purchase Price if not known, to the Seller by wire transfer not later than [Redacted – Timing] days following the end of said one-week period. If, at calendar month’s end, the actual Purchase Price for the month exceeds the estimated Purchase Price, the Purchaser shall pay the Seller on or before the [Redacted – Timing] day of the following calendar month an amount equal to the product of (i) the difference between the actual and estimated Purchase Price and (ii) the aggregate quantity of Product purchased by the Purchaser from the Seller and shipped from the Plant under this Agreement during such month. If at calendar month’s end, the actual Purchase Price is less than the estimated Purchase Price, the Seller shall pay the Purchaser on or before the [Redacted – Timing] day of the following calendar month, or the Purchaser shall have the right to withhold and set-off from payments to the Seller, an amount equal to the product of (x) the difference between the actual and estimated Purchase Price and (y) the aggregate quantity of Product purchased by the Purchaser from the Seller and shipped from the Plant under this Agreement during such month.

9.06 If either Party fails to pay all or any portion of the amount owing by it when due, such unpaid amount will bear simple interest at a rate equal to [Redacted – Interest Rate] per annum above the Prime Commercial Lending Rate calculated daily from the date such amount is due hereunder until the date it is actually paid. Upon failure of a party to pay the unpaid amount, including interest thereon, within [Redacted – Timing] days after the due date set out in this Agreement, the party to whom sums are due may suspend in whole or in part its delivery or acceptance of Product, as the case may be, hereunder until such outstanding amount has been paid in full.

9.07 Any payment made pursuant to this Article 9.0 will not preclude a Party from subsequently auditing the accounts of the other Party as provided for herein.

10.0 Transportation

10.01 The Purchaser agrees to diligently pursue, secure, and maintain all necessary agreements to transport Product from the Plant to the Delivery Point, and shall be solely responsible for arranging transportation.

11.0 Storage

11.01 The Seller shall provide for a minimum of [Redacted – Timing] days of storage of Product at the Plant at no cost to Purchaser.

11.02 The Parties may determine that it is in the best interest of the Seller to maintain storage of Product outside the Seller's facility, in which case the Purchaser shall arrange for such outside storage as well as transportation to such outside facilities, and the costs and expenses associated therewith shall form part of the Transportation and Other Costs. Transfer of any Product to such outside facilities would not constitute a change in title or ownership of the Product.

12.0 Title and Risk

12.01 Delivery shall be deemed to occur when Product is loaded into the carriers of the Purchaser at the Plant.

12.02 Title and risk of loss or damage to Product, including Product stored by the Seller in any outside storage facility shall pass from the Seller to the Purchaser only upon delivery of Product to the Purchaser, and until such time, the Seller shall be deemed to be in control of, and in possession of, and shall have title to and risk in the Product.

15.0 Confidentiality and Non-Circumvention

15.01 Subject to Section 15.02 hereof, each of the Parties agrees:

- (a) not to disclose Confidential Information to any party not bound to Seller or Purchaser to maintain its confidentiality;
- (b) except as required to meet its obligations under this Agreement or obtain the benefits of this Agreement, not to use the Confidential Information for its benefit or the benefit of any other party;
- (c) to take reasonable steps to protect the security of the Confidential Information and avoid the disclosure of the Confidential Information in order to prevent same from falling into the public domain or into the hands of any party not bound to Seller or Purchaser to maintain its confidentiality; and
- (d) upon demand to return all Confidential Information to the other Party in whatever form and however stored or manifested, whether in original, extracted, summarised or reproduced form.

15.02 Notwithstanding Section 15.01 hereof, each Party may:

- (a) prudently use the Confidential Information to carry out its obligations hereunder;
- (b) retain copies of Confidential Information in its working files for the purpose of maintaining the records required to be maintained hereunder; and
- (c) retain copies of Confidential Information as may exist in its backup and archival systems (the "Archival Copies"), provided that: (1) deletion of such Confidential Information retained in such Archival Copies is not reasonably practical; (2) such Archival Copies are used only for backup and archival purposes; and (3) the Confidential Information residing in the Archival Copies is retained in confidence and not used for any purpose.

15.03 This Agreement, the terms and conditions of this Agreement and the nature and extent of the relationship between the Parties shall be kept in the strictest confidence by the Parties, except to the extent that Seller or Purchaser, as the case may be, is required to disclose information directly or through its parent entities under applicable legislation.

15.04 The Seller agrees, at the Seller's option, either: (i) for a [Redacted – Period] year period after the expiration, termination, or non-renewal of this Agreement which is by the Seller's choice (meaning the Purchaser was ready to continue or renew the Agreement but the Seller determined not to), not to enter into or continue any agreement or transaction, whether directly or indirectly (including without limitation through another marketer or agent), to sell the Products to any party to which the Purchaser sold Products during the year prior to the effective date of expiration, termination, or non-renewal, or (ii) upon the expiration, termination, or non-renewal of this Agreement which is by the Seller's choice (meaning the Purchaser was ready to continue or renew the Agreement but the Seller determined not to), to pay an amount equal to the aggregate marketing fee earned by the Purchaser during the [Redacted – Timing] month period immediately prior to the effective date of expiration, termination, or non-renewal (meaning, for greater certainty, the Marketing Fee multiplied by the aggregate Net Price with respect to each gallon of Product lifted by the Purchaser during such [Redacted – Timing]-month period).

16.0 Force Majeure

16.01 A delay in or failure of performance (other than payment of money) by either Party shall not constitute default, or breach of this Agreement, nor shall either Party be held liable to the other for any delay, failure, loss or damage to the extent such delay, failure, loss or damage is caused by occurrences reasonably beyond the control of the Party affected (a “Force Majeure”), including but not limited to acts of God or the public enemy; expropriation or confiscation of facilities; compliance with any order or request of any governmental authority or person purporting to act therefor; failure to obtain or maintain permits or other necessary authorization; acts of declared or undeclared war; any weapon of war employing atomic fission or radioactive force, whether in the time of peace or war; public disorders, rebellion, riots, sabotage, revolution; earthquakes, floods; strikes, labour or employment difficulties; interruption or delay caused by accident or sabotage; in the case of the Purchaser, if its customer or carrier experience or declares a force majeure event; or any causes whether or not the same class or kind as those specifically above named, not within the reasonable control of the party affected or which, by the exercise of reasonable diligence said Party is unable to prevent. In the event that deliveries or receipt of Product are suspended because of force majeure on the part of either Party, then the Purchaser shall not have any obligation at any time to take, make-up, receive or purchase and/or pay for any quantity of Product not delivered or received during any period in which delivery or receipt, as the case may be, is suspended, nor shall the Seller be required to deliver or make up deliveries omitted by reason of force majeure.

17.0 Default in Delivery or Default in Pick-up

17.01 If the Seller fails to deliver Product to the Purchaser in accordance with the terms of this Agreement (including without limitation during an occurrence of Force Majeure or during an unscheduled outage) and the Purchaser has previously committed to deliver Product pursuant to sale agreements with Customers, the Purchaser shall be entitled, upon [Redacted – Timing] days written notice delivered to the Seller, to purchase such quantities of Products in the open marketplace (an “Outsourced Purchase”) as may be necessary to allow the Purchaser to perform its obligations under such sale agreements, in which case the Seller shall use commercially reasonable efforts to assist the Purchaser in carrying out the Outsourced Purchase.

17.03 Subject to Article 11.0, if the Purchaser fails to take delivery of Product when available in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, the Seller shall be entitled, upon [Redacted –Timing] days’ written notice delivered to the Purchaser, to sell such quantities of Products in the open marketplace as may be necessary to allow the Seller to dispose of same, in which case the Purchaser shall use commercially reasonable efforts to assist the Seller in carrying out such disposal (an “Alternative Sale”).

18.0 Limitation of Liability

18.01 Subject to the terms of this Agreement, neither Party shall be liable to the other Party for any indirect, consequential, punitive or special damages, loss of business expectations, business interruptions or any damage to third parties arising in any way out of this Agreement or any breach thereof.

19.0 Audit Rights

19.01 Each Party will establish and maintain at all times true and accurate books, records and accounts in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied consistently from year to year consistent with good industry practices, distinguishable from all other books and records in respect of all transactions undertaken by such Party pursuant to this Agreement.

19.02 During normal business hours, each Party shall have the right, exercisable no more than [Redacted – Timing] per year, to audit such books, records and accounts of the other Party, provided such right to audit shall be limited to two calendar years following the completion of any sale or other transaction associated with this Agreement; provided that if either Party from time to time is able to provide evidence reasonably demonstrating a concern that the relevant books, records or accounts of the other Party are not correct, such Party may exercise the audit right described in this section within [Redacted – Timing] days of providing such evidence, notwithstanding the limitation of [Redacted – Number of Audits] audit per year that would otherwise apply.

19.03 Subject to Section 19.02 hereof, for a period of [Redacted – Timing] year after the expiration of the Contract Term, each Party shall have the right to have a third-party auditor, who will be a member of a chartered accounting firm with no fewer than fifty (50) partners, audit on such Party's behalf the relevant accounts, books and records of the other Party, to the extent necessary in order to verify the accuracy of any statement, charge, computation or demand made under or pursuant to any of the provisions of this Agreement.

19.04 If any error is discovered in any statement rendered hereunder, such error will be adjusted by the Parties within a period of [Redacted – Timing] days from the date of discovery, but no adjustment will be made for any error discovered in a statement more than [Redacted – Time Period] years after delivery of such statement.

19.05 If a difference of [Redacted – Percentage] percent or $[Redacted – Amount], whichever is greater, from a statement rendered hereunder by any Party is discovered by any audit, the Party which rendered such statement will pay the costs of such audit. If no such material difference appears, the Party requesting the audit of such statement will pay such costs.

20.0 Renewable Identification Numbers

20.01 In the event that Renewable Identification Numbers (RINs) are required with respect to Products in the future for compliance with applicable regulations, the price of such RINs shall be included in the Gross Price.

21.0 Miscellaneous

21.01 In the event of a default in the payment of any amounts due hereunder which continues for a period of [Redacted – Timing] business days following the due date, or a default in performance of any other obligation that continues for a period of [Redacted – Timing] days following written notice thereof, the non-defaulting party shall have all the remedies available under applicable law or equity and may pursue them.

21.02 If any dispute arises out of or in connection with this Agreement, the obligations arising under it or the interpretation of its terms, the matter shall first be referred to senior management of the Parties for settlement, failing which it shall be referred to arbitration by the Arbitrators Association of Alberta under its Commercial Arbitration Rules and according to the following terms:

- (a) Either the Purchaser or the Seller may initiate arbitration by giving written notice requesting arbitration to the other.
- (b) The Parties shall select a single arbitrator by mutual agreement, but if they fail to select a single arbitrator within [Redacted – Timing] calendar days of the receipt of notice of arbitration, then each Party shall within [Redacted – Timing] business days thereafter, appoint their respective arbitrator and the two arbitrators thus chosen shall together, within [Redacted – Timing] business days of their appointment, select a third arbitrator and that three member panel shall arbitrate the dispute. In the event that two arbitrators shall fail within [Redacted – Timing] business days of their appointment to select a third arbitrator, then upon written request of either Party, the third arbitrator shall be appointed by the Arbitrators Association of Alberta. If a Party shall fail to appoint an arbitrator as required, the arbitrator appointed by the other Party shall be the sole arbitrator.
- (c) Within [Redacted – Timing] business days of the appointment of the arbitrator or panel, as the case may be, each Party shall state in writing its position concerning the dispute, supported by the reasons therefor, and deliver its position to the arbitrator(s) and the other Party. If either Party fails to submit its position in a timely manner, the position submitted by the other Party shall be deemed correct, and the arbitration shall be deemed concluded. The Parties shall then have [Redacted – Timing] calendar days to respond to the position of the other Party and deliver that response to the arbitrator(s). The arbitrator(s) shall within [Redacted – Timing] calendar days thereafter, meet to consider the documents presented in order to make a determination by majority on the issues in dispute. Within [Redacted – Timing] business days of the end of their meeting the arbitrator(s) shall present their award. The arbitrator(s) may award a Party the right to terminate this Agreement if termination is a remedy specified herein for the claim which is the subject of the arbitration.

- (d) Each Party in such arbitration shall bear one-half each of the expenses of the arbitrator(s), including their fees and costs, and the losing Party shall reimburse the winning Party for such amount paid by the winning Party. Each Party shall bear its own expenses, including attorney's fees. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the arbitrator(s) may grant any relief which they or majority of them deem just and equitable and within the scope of the Agreement of the Parties, including a reasonable allowance for attorney's fees.
