Damien Vanderwilt, Co-President and Head of Global Markets, to transition to Senior Advisor and Board Director

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, November 9, 2022- Galaxy Digital Holdings Ltd. (TSX: GLXY) ("Galaxy Digital", "Galaxy", the "Company" or "GDH Ltd.") today released financial results for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2022 for both itself and Galaxy Digital Holdings LP (the "Partnership" or "GDH LP").

"While our industry continues to face macroeconomic headwinds and structural evolution, Galaxy remains focused on building for the future state of institutional adoption by taking deliberate steps to transform and simplify our operations," said Michael Novogratz, Founder and CEO of Galaxy Digital.

"Retaining $1.5 billion in liquidity, including over $1.0 billion in cash, the Company continues to be in a position of strength for both organic and inorganic growth, as we focus on building for the future. Additionally, I'd like to thank Damien Vanderwilt for his contributions to the Company and look forward to continuing to work with him as he transitions to being Senior Advisor and Board Director."

Select Financial Highlights for the Third Quarter 2022

- Net comprehensive loss was $68.1 million, compared to a $517.9 million gain in the prior year period.
 - The loss was primarily related to unrealized losses on investments in our Principal Investments business, driven by reduced valuations on certain investments due to external market conditions, and increased Operating Expense for our Mining business due to impairments in Mining assets, driven by dislocations in the mining space. The net comprehensive loss was partially offset by profitability in our Trading business.
 - Within the quarter, the Partnership's Trading business line was profitable largely due to realized and unrealized gains on digital assets, contributing $52.8 million to net comprehensive income in the quarter.
- Partners' Capital was $1.8 billion at the end of the quarter, down 12% from $2.0 billion in the prior year period.
 - During the quarter, Partners' Capital decreased 3% quarter-over-quarter to $1.8 billion due to the net comprehensive loss in the quarter.
 - This decrease was against the backdrop of a total cryptocurrency market capitalization increase of approximately 7% during the quarter.¹
 - The Company maintained a strong liquidity position of $1.5 billion as of September 30, 2022.
 - Liquidity includes $1.0 billion in cash and a net digital assets² position of $422.6 million. $235.8 million of that net digital assets² were held in non-algorithmic stablecoins, predominantly in USD Coin ("USDC").
 - As of September 30, 2022, net digital assets² were $422.6 million, compared to $474.3 million as of June 30, 2022. The decrease in net digital assets² was primarily driven by selling certain liquid positions.

² Net digital assets includes all digital assets categorized as assets, less all digital assets categorized as liabilities on the statement of financial position, less non-controlling interests liabilities.

Operating Highlights for the Third Quarter 2022

- Galaxy Trading ("GT") reported continued growth in client count and strong revenue from our counterparty-facing businesses, against continued decreased counterparty trading volumes within the quarter.
 - Cumulative counterparty-facing GT Operational Net Revenue ("GT Operational Revenue") within the quarter was approximately $20 million, with approximately 40% from our Quantitative Trading businesses, and the remaining approximately equally split between our Derivatives and Credit businesses.
 - Within the quarter, GT onboarded over 25 new counterparties to our trading platform, bringing our total trading counterparties to over 880, and continues to provide liquidity in over 100 cryptocurrencies.
 - Counterparty trading volumes decreased by approximately 55% from the quarter ended June 30, 2022, and decreased by just over 50% year over year.
 - The Company's cumulative gross counterparty loan originations were approximately $590 million within the quarter, and the value of GT's counterparty loan and yield portfolio increased 5% quarter over quarter.
- Galaxy Asset Management ("GAM") reported preliminary assets under management ("AUM")³ of nearly $2.0 billion as of September 30, 2022, a 17% increase from the quarter ended June 30, 2022.
 - AUM consisted of $875 million in GAM's Galaxy Fund Management products, and just over $1.1 billion in the Galaxy Interactive venture franchise.
 - GAM strategically focused on scaling active strategies within our Galaxy Fund Management and Interactive products, and as a result, GAM saw positive net flows in the quarter.
 - Within the quarter Galaxy Interactive grew AUM to just over $1.1 billion. As of September 30, 2022, the fair market value of Galaxy Interactive's first two closed funds, the Galaxy EOS VC Fund and Galaxy Interactive Fund I, are worth nearly double their investment costs in aggregate.
- Galaxy Investment Banking ("GIB") had a quarter of continued growth of its active deal pipeline, with a number of existing mandates expected to close in the next two quarters.
 - GIB is actively engaged in the markets' prominent shift toward M&A activity, and accordingly, M&A-linked transactions and opportunities remain a primary focus for the team.
 - GIB continues to execute against an active pipeline of mandates representing over $1 billion in potential transaction value.
 - GIB continues to expand international coverage and added a new member to the Europe GIB team to strengthen our ability to serve our clients and meet demand across the globe.
 - Within the quarter, GIB advised Blockdaemon on its acquisition of Sepior, a digital asset security provider that offers advanced MPC-based solutions.
- Galaxy Mining ("GM") incurred a net comprehensive loss of $34.9 million in the quarter, largely due to non-cash operating impairments of Mining assets that increased Operating Expense, against the backdrop of our largest third-party hosting provider reducing capacity due to market conditions, rising energy prices and constrained access to capital markets.
 - GM is actively working on multiple longer-term solutions to diversify and reduce counterparty risk, in order to maintain our targeted goal of 3,000 Petahash per second (PH/s) of mining capacity for both proprietary and miner-finance operations, from monthly deliveries by the end of 2022.
 - Additionally, GM broke ground on its first proprietary mining site in Texas, which is expected to be fully energized and operational by January 2023, enabling GM to scale its self-mining responsibly and in a tax-efficient structure.
 - During the quarter, GM closed three existing machine leases at expected terms, without defaults, delinquencies, or losses. These small loans were, in aggregate, approximately $8 million, demonstrating the team's continued prudent approach toward extending financing arrangements in the mining space.
 - GM announced an investment in Aspen Creek Digital Corporation ("ACDC"), and continues to host machines at their sustainably-focused facilities. ACDC is a bitcoin mining company focused on renewable energy, demonstrating GM's ongoing commitment to sustainability and proper risk perimeters on hosting providers.
- Principal Investments ("GPI"): The Company now holds 152 investments across 107 portfolio companies as of September 30, 2022. Within the third quarter 2022, GPI made investments in a number of companies including Celestia, one of the leading projects focused on novel, modular blockchain architecture.

³ AUM is an internal estimate inclusive of a sub-advised fund, committed capital in a closed-end vehicle, and seed investments by affiliates. Changes in AUM are generally the result of performance, contributions, and withdrawals.
