Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco EQV Canadian Premier Equity Class - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,159
Worst return	-21.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $790

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,413. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.21%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings and that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions. The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.65% of the value of this series. This equals $26.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,476. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.49%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a Canadian equity investment with minimal foreign exposure
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Pure Canadian Equity Fund - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On July 30, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.5%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,165
Worst return	-26.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $737

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,730. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.56%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a Canadian equity investment with minimal foreign exposure
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.11% of the value of this series. This equals $11.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

Invesco Pure Canadian Equity Fund - Series PTF

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On July 30, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.6%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,166
Worst return	-26.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $738

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,834. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.98%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a Canadian equity investment with minimal foreign exposure
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.82% of the value of this series. This equals $8.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.05%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Invesco Pure Canadian Equity Class - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	20.4%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,204
Worst return	-28.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $720

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,854. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.06%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a Canadian equity investment with minimal foreign exposure
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.02% of the value of this series. This equals $0.20 for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

Invesco RAFI Canadian Index ETF Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On March 24, 2025 and July 27, 2018, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.5%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,165
Worst return	-26.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $731

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,061. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.84%.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests in the securities of Invesco RAFI Canadian Index ETF, an exchange-traded fund that invests primarily in equity securities of Canadian companies in order to seek to replicate the performance of the RAFI Fundamental Select Canada 100 Index. The index weights companies using four fundamental factors of company size: adjusted sales, adjusted cash flow, dividends plus buybacks, and book value plus intangibles.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On March 24, 2025 and July 27, 2018, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.9%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,169
Worst return	-26.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $733

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,554. This works out to an annual compound return of 13.52%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Want a well-diversified core Canadian equity investment
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.01% of the value of this series. This equals $0.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 1.55%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Select Canadian Equity Fund - Series I

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Select Canadian Equity Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Select Canadian Equity Fund - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.3%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,173
Worst return	-24.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $759

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,272. This works out to an annual compound return of 12.59%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.02% of the value of this series. This equals $0.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	22.4%	July 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,224
Worst return	-18.6%	April 30, 2025	Your investment would drop to $814

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,864. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.10%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco American Franchise Fund - Series A

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.53% of the value of this series. This equals $25.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Invesco American Franchise Fund - Series O

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series O units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series O units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series O units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	23.2%	July 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,232
Worst return	-18.1%	April 30, 2025	Your investment would drop to $819

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series O units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,669. This works out to an annual compound return of 13.88%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series O units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series O units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors pay the management and advisory fees for Series O units directly.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series O were 0.21% of the value of this series. This equals $2.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series O units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series O units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	For individual investors, your representative's firm may charge you an annual investment advisory fee, which you negotiate with your representative. This fee is paid by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund. If one of the 0.25%, 0.50%, 0.75% or 1.00% purchase options is selected, the investment advisory fee is that which is reflected by the purchase option. The purchase option selected is determined by you and your representative. We have also included a purchase option that does not provide for a default fee if you and your representative wish to negotiate a different fee. If that purchase option is selected, then we will collect a fee of up to 1.50% on your behalf and remit that fee to your representative's firm. If that purchase option is selected and we do not receive any documentation, then we will not redeem units and we will assume that your representative's firm will either (i) not charge a fee or (ii) charge you directly. No investment advisory fee is payable by institutional investors.
Management and advisory fee	Investors pay the management and advisory fee for Series O units directly. The annual management and advisory fees are as follows: 0.85% on the first $500,000 of assets; 0.75% on assets between $500,000 and $1,000,000; 0.70% on assets between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000; and 0.65% on assets in excess of $5,000,000. Certain institutional and ultra-high net worth investors may negotiate the management and advisory fees for Series O units.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco American Franchise Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series FH shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series FH shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series FH shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	21.7%	July 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,217
Worst return	-20.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $799

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series FH shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,083. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.92%.

Invesco American Franchise Class - Series FH

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series FH shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series FH shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series FH were 1.04% of the value of this series. This equals $10.40 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series FH shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series FH shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

We will switch your Series H shares into Series PH shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000, and if your Series H shares are held within a registered account. The annual fee decrease from Series H to Series PH is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PH, we will switch your shares back into Series H shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	22.5%	July 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,225
Worst return	-18.6%	April 30, 2025	Your investment would drop to $814

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,979. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.53%.

Invesco American Franchise Class - Series P

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Investors who wish to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar should invest in Series PH securities of this Fund.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.19% of the value of this series. This equals $21.90 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTFU shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted and are in U.S. dollars. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTFU shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTFU shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	22.3%	July 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,223
Worst return	-20.4%	June 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $796

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTFU shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,436. This works out to an annual compound return of 13.14%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco American Franchise Class - Series PTFU

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTFU shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTFU were 0.81% of the value of this series. This equals $8.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.18% of the value of this series. This equals $11.80 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	21.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,215
Worst return	-28.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $717

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,587. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.97%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a specialty U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

Invesco Main Street U.S. Small Cap Class - Series PTF

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	21.2%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,212
Worst return	-28.5%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $715

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,347. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.91%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a specialty U.S. equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 1.02% of the value of this series. This equals $10.20 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests either in securities of Invesco NASDAQ 100 ETF (NASDAQ ticker: QQQM) or Invesco NASDAQ 100 Index ETF – CAD Hedged Units (TSX ticker: QQC.F), or directly in companies listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market in order to replicate the Nasdaq-100 Index®, which measures the performance of the 100 largest non-financial companies listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market. If the Fund invests in shares of Invesco NASDAQ 100 ETF or in securities that make up the Nasdaq-100 Index®, because these investments are traded in U.S. dollars, the Fund will seek to reduce the risk of exchange-rate fluctuations between the U.S. and Canadian dollars by hedging its U.S.-dollar exposure.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests either in securities of Invesco NASDAQ 100 ETF (NASDAQ ticker: QQQM) or Invesco NASDAQ 100 Index ETF – CAD Hedged Units (TSX ticker: QQC.F), or directly in companies listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market in order to replicate the Nasdaq-100 Index®, which measures the performance of the 100 largest non-financial companies listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market. If the Fund invests in shares of Invesco NASDAQ 100 ETF or in securities that make up the Nasdaq-100 Index®, because these investments are traded in U.S. dollars, the Fund will seek to reduce the risk of exchange-rate fluctuations between the U.S. and Canadian dollars by hedging its U.S.-dollar exposure.

Invesco NASDAQ 100 Index ETF Fund - Series F

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past four years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past four years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the four years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past four years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	20.4%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,204
Worst return	-22.6%	June 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $774

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,803. This works out to an annual compound return of 12.72%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Want exposure to U.S. equities
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk
- Want exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.31% of the value of this series. This equals $3.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests in the securities of Invesco RAFI US 1000 ETF (the "underlying fund"), a U.S.-listed exchange-traded fund that seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the RAFI Fundamental Select US 1000 Index (the "Index"). The Index consists mainly of equity securities of companies located in the U.S. and weights companies using four fundamental factors of firm size: book value plus intangibles, adjusted cash flow, adjusted sales and dividends plus buybacks. As the underlying fund is traded in U.S. dollars, the Fund also seeks to reduce the risk of exchange-rate fluctuations between the U.S. and Canadian dollars by hedging its U.S.-dollar exposure.

Invesco RAFI U.S. ETF Fund - Series A

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.70% of the value of this series. This equals $17.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.69%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.01%
Fund expenses	1.70%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests in the securities of Invesco RAFI US 1000 ETF (the "underlying fund"), a U.S.-listed exchange-traded fund that seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the RAFI Fundamental Select US 1000 Index (the "Index"). The Index consists mainly of equity securities of companies located in the U.S. and weights companies using four fundamental factors of firm size: book value plus intangibles, adjusted cash flow, adjusted sales and dividends plus buybacks. As the underlying fund is traded in U.S. dollars, the Fund also seeks to reduce the risk of exchange-rate fluctuations between the U.S. and Canadian dollars by hedging its U.S.-dollar exposure.

Invesco RAFI U.S. ETF Fund - Series F

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On March 24, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	21.7%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,217
Worst return	-28.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $718

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,838. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.99%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Want a well-diversified core U.S. equity investment
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.53% of the value of this series. This equals $5.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco S&P 500 ESG Index ETF Fund - Series F

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past four years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past four years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the four years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past four years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.0%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,150
Worst return	-16.0%	June 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $840

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,857. This works out to an annual compound return of 13.40%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking long-term capital growth
- Want a well-diversified core U.S. equity investment with an environmental, social and governance (ESG) mandate
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.28% of the value of this series. This equals $2.80 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.60% of the value of this series. This equals $26.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	2.47%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.13%
Fund expenses	2.60%

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series F

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,158
Worst return	-20.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $798

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,307. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.72%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series F

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.15% of the value of this series. This equals $11.50 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

No guarantees

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.1%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,161
Worst return	-20.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $800

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,580. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.94%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.13% of the value of this series. This equals $1.30 for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series O units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Investment advisory fee	For individual investors, your representative's firm may charge you an annual investment advisory fee, which you negotiate with your representative. This fee is paid by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund. If one of the 0.25%, 0.50%, 0.75% or 1.00% purchase options is selected, the investment advisory fee is that which is reflected by the purchase option. The purchase option selected is determined by you and your representative. We have also included a purchase option that does not provide for a default fee if you and your representative wish to negotiate a different fee. If that purchase option is selected, then we will collect a fee of up to 1.50% on your behalf and remit that fee to your representative's firm. If that purchase option is selected and we do not receive any documentation, then we will not redeem units and we will assume that your representative's firm will either (i) not charge a fee or (ii) charge you directly. No investment advisory fee is payable by institutional investors.
Management and advisory fee	Investors pay the management and advisory fee for Series O units directly. The annual management and advisory fees are as follows: 0.85% on the first $500,000 of assets; 0.75% on assets between $500,000 and $1,000,000; 0.70% on assets between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000; and 0.65% on assets in excess of $5,000,000. Certain institutional and ultra-high net worth investors may negotiate the management and advisory fees for Series O units.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series PTF

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,158
Worst return	-20.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $798

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,341. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.88%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 1.04% of the value of this series. This equals $10.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series T4

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Companies Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,154
Worst return	-20.5%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $795

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,036. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.37%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
 - Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
 - Want a diversified global equity investment
 - Are comfortable with medium risk
- Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions. The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series T4

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.51% of the value of this series. This equals $25.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.38%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.13%
Fund expenses	2.51%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,154
Worst return	-20.5%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $795

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,037. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.37%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
 - Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
 - Want a diversified global equity investment
 - Are comfortable with medium risk
- Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions. The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series T8

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.53% of the value of this series. This equals $25.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco Global Companies Fund - Series W

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

Because this is a new series, the risk rating is only an estimate by Invesco Canada Ltd. Generally, the rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Global Dividend Class - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,164
Worst return	-21.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $788

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,330. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.83%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Investors who wish to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar should invest in Series FH securities of this Fund.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.02% of the value of this series. This equals $10.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,164
Worst return	-21.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $789

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,337. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.86%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series F6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Dividend Class - Series F6

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F6 shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F6 were 1.01% of the value of this series. This equals $10.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	0.86%

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F6 shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

This section tells you how Series P shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.0%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,160
Worst return	-21.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $786

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,074. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.57%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Investors who wish to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar should invest in Series PH securities of this Fund.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.34% of the value of this series. This equals $23.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Dividend Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Dividend Class - Series PT6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.0%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,160
Worst return	-21.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $786

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,086. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.63%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series PT6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Dividend Class - Series PT6

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT6 were 2.29% of the value of this series. This equals $22.90 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.14%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.15%
Fund expenses	2.29%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Dividend Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Global Dividend Class^{*} - Series T8

^{*}Part of Invesco Corporate Class Inc.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Dividend Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Dividend Class - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,159
Worst return	-21.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $786

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,997. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.16%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Dividend Class - Series T8

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	- You and your representative decide on the rate - The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.84% of the value of this series. This equals $28.40 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series T8 shares into Series PT8 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T8 to Series PT8 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT8, we will switch your shares back into Series T8 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On July 27, 2023, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.4%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,134
Worst return	-23.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $763

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,366. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.99%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment that employs environmental, social and governance (ESG) oriented investment strategies as part of their fundamental investment objectives
- Want capital growth over the long term
- Want exposure to global dividend-paying equities
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.57% of the value of this series. This equals $5.70 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Invesco Global Equity Income Advantage Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past three years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past three years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past three years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. Invesco Global Equity Income Advantage Fund - Series I

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past three years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past three years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past three years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.2%	July 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,102
Worst return	-6.3%	April 30, 2025	Your investment would drop to $937

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,683. This works out to an annual compound return of 18.15%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified global equity investment with monthly income distributions
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.14% of the value of this series. This equals $1.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 1.85%.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Opportunities Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in five of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On May 3, 2021, the Fund's investment objectives were changed and on October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	24.3%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,243
Worst return	-31.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $690

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $835. This works out to an annual compound return of -1.78%.

Invesco Global Opportunities Class - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a small and mid-cap capitalization global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 3.33% of the value of this series. This equals $33.30 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Opportunities Class - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.37% of the value of this series. This equals $3.70 for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Opportunities Class - Series P

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in four of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On May 3, 2021, the Fund's investment objectives were changed and on October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	24.5%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,245
Worst return	-30.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $691

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $885. This works out to an annual compound return of -1.22%.

Invesco Global Opportunities Class - Series P

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a small and mid-cap capitalization global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P shares of the Fund.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTFU shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted and are in U.S. dollars. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTFU shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On May 3, 2021, the Fund's investment objectives were changed and on October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTFU shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	30.1%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,301
Worst return	-36.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $637

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTFU shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,052. This works out to an annual compound return of 0.51%.

Invesco Global Opportunities Class - Series PTFU

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a small and mid-cap capitalization global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTFU shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTFU were 1.33% of the value of this series. This equals $13.30 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Select Equity Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series H

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Select Equity Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series H

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series H units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series H units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022 and March 1, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series H units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	19.5%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,195
Worst return	-22.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $779

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series H units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,862. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.42%.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series H

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium to high risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series H units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series H units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series H were 2.51% of the value of this series. This equals $25.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series H

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series H units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series P

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.20% of the value of this series. This equals $22.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.16%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.04%
Fund expenses	2.20%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series T4

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Select Equity Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022 and March 1, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.2%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,172
Worst return	-21.0%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $790

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,932. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.81%.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022 and March 1, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.2%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,172
Worst return	-20.9%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $791

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,932. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.81%.

Invesco Global Select Equity Fund - Series T8

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.45% of the value of this series. This equals $24.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Investors who wish to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar should invest in Series FH securities of this Fund.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.14% of the value of this series. This equals $11.40 for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium to high.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series FH shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Invesco Global Select Equity Class - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022 and March 1, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.9%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,179
Worst return	-20.5%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $795

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,439. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.33%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.05% of the value of this series. This equals $0.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,
- or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PH shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PH shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PH were 2.20% of the value of this series. This equals $22.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.15%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.05%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PH shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Global Select Equity Class - Series PTF

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022 and March 1, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.6%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,176
Worst return	-20.7%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $793

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,235. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.37%.

Invesco Global Select Equity Class - Series PTF

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

Invesco Global Select Equity Class - Series T6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022 and March 1, 2021, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.2%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,172
Worst return	-21.0%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $790

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,917. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.72%.

Invesco Global Select Equity Class - Series T6

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a global equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.46% of the value of this series. This equals $24.60 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Select Equity Class - Series T6

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests in the securities of Invesco RAFI US 1000 ETF, Invesco RAFI Developed Markets ex-U.S. ETF and Invesco RAFI Emerging Markets ETF (collectively, the "underlying funds"), which are U.S.-listed exchange-traded funds that, together, invest primarily in companies diversified globally across developed and emerging markets. The underlying funds seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of indexes that weight companies using four fundamental factors of firm size: book value plus intangibles, adjusted cash flow, adjusted sales and dividends plus buybacks. As the underlying funds hold securities that are priced in foreign currencies, the Fund also seeks to reduce the risk of exchange-rate fluctuations between foreign currencies and the Canadian dollar by hedging the foreign-currency exposure.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco RAFI Global+ ETF Fund - Series A

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On March 24, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	20.4%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,204
Worst return	-27.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $727

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,406. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.18%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Want a well-diversified core global equity investment
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

Invesco RAFI Global+ ETF Fund - Series A

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.77% of the value of this series. This equals $17.70 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco RAFI Global+ ETF Fund - Series F4

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F4 units of the Fund have performed over the past five years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past five years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the five years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On March 24, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past five years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.1%	April 30, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,131
Worst return	-9.8%	June 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $902

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F4 units of the Fund at its inception now has $2,099. This works out to an annual compound return of 14.26%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Want a well-diversified core global equity investment
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F4 units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F4 were 0.61% of the value of this series. This equals $6.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F4 units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Developing Markets Fund - Series I

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Developing Markets Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Developing Markets Fund - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past four years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past four years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the four years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past four years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	18.8%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,188
Worst return	-17.6%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $824

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund at its inception now has $890. This works out to an annual compound return of -2.51%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want exposure to emerging-market equities
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.40% of the value of this series. This equals $4.00 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,
- or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Developing Markets Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	21.9%	August 31, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,219
Worst return	-18.2%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $818

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,283. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.53%.

Invesco Developing Markets Class - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want exposure to emerging-market equities
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 3.32% of the value of this series. This equals $33.20 for every $1,000 invested.

Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

Management expense ratio (MER)

This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.05%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Developing Markets Class - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	22.8%	August 31, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,228
Worst return	-17.7%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $823

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,698. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.44%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want exposure to emerging-market equities
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.57% of the value of this series. This equals $5.70 for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Developing Markets Class - Series PTFU

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTFU shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted and are in U.S. dollars. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTFU shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in four of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTFU shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	29.2%	August 31, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,292
Worst return	-20.6%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $794

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTFU shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,498. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.12%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want exposure to emerging-market equities
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTFU shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTFU were 1.66% of the value of this series. This equals $16.60 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco EQV International Equity Fund - Series F

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco EQV International Equity Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco EQV International Equity Fund - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.9%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,169
Worst return	-17.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $827

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,597. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.79%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an international equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want to diversify their portfolio through international investing
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.54% of the value of this series. This equals $15.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.9%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,169
Worst return	-17.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $826

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,622. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.96%.

Invesco EQV International Equity Class - Series F

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an international equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want to diversify their portfolio through international investing
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Investors who wish to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar should invest in Series FH securities of this Fund.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.41% of the value of this series. This equals $14.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	1.13%

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series H shares of the Fund have performed over the past nine years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series H shares of the Fund performed in each of the past nine years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the nine years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series H shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past nine years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,169
Worst return	-21.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $786

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series H shares of the Fund at its inception now has $1,547. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.66%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an international equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want to diversify their portfolio through international investing
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series H shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series H shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series H were 2.79% of the value of this series. This equals $27.90 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series H shares into Series PH shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000, and if your Series H shares are held within a registered account. The annual fee decrease from Series H to Series PH is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PH, we will switch your shares back into Series H shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series H shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PH shares of the Fund have performed over the past nine years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PH shares of the Fund performed in each of the past nine years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the nine years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PH shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past nine years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.1%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,171
Worst return	-21.5%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $785

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PH shares of the Fund at its inception now has $1,601. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.04%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an international equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want to diversify their portfolio through international investing
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign equity securities but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PH shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PH shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PH were 2.66% of the value of this series. This equals $26.60 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PH shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTFU shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco European Equity Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco European Equity Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco European Equity Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025 and November 28, 2022, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.1%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,161
Worst return	-22.1%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $779

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,443. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.73%.

Invesco European Equity Fund - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a European equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 3.71% of the value of this series. This equals $37.10 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco European Equity Fund - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025 and November 28, 2022, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.1%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,171
Worst return	-21.6%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $784

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,900. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.63%.

Invesco European Equity Fund - Series I

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a European equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.79% of the value of this series. This equals $7.90 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

(the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTFU units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted and are in U.S. dollars. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTFU units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in four of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025 and November 28, 2022, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTFU units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	19.4%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,194
Worst return	-20.9%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $791

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTFU units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,736. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.67%.

Invesco European Equity Fund - Series PTFU

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a European equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTFU units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTFU units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTFU were 1.75% of the value of this series. This equals $17.50 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee and fixed-rate expense fee.	0.96%

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTFU units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTFU units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past eight years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past eight years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the eight years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past eight years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	18.4%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,184
Worst return	-20.6%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $794

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F6 shares of the Fund at its inception now has $1,481. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.96%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a European equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in four of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 23, 2025, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	18.0%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,180
Worst return	-20.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $792

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,471. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.93%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a European equity fund that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco European Equity Class - Series P

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 3.09% of the value of this series. This equals $30.90 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

Invesco International Growth Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.4%	March 31, 2019	Your investment would rise to $1,174
Worst return	-16.6%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $834

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,318. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.80%.

Invesco International Growth Fund - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified international equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 3.23% of the value of this series. This equals $32.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco International Growth Fund - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco International Growth Class' - Series A

■ Part of Invesco Corporate Class Inc.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco International Growth Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco International Growth Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.8%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,178
Worst return	-16.8%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $832

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,288. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.56%.

Invesco International Growth Class - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified international equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 3.07% of the value of this series. This equals $30.70 for every $1,000 invested.

Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

Management expense ratio (MER)

This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco International Growth Class - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	18.0%	January 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,180
Worst return	-16.6%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $834

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,355. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.08%.

Invesco International Growth Class - Series P

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a diversified international equity investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.69% of the value of this series. This equals $26.90 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco International Growth Class - Series PTF

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 28, 2022, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

Invesco Global Real Estate Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.1%	September 30, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,121
Worst return	-21.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $782

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $986. This works out to an annual compound return of -0.14%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential and income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want to invest in global real estate securities
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Real Estate Fund - Series A

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 3.14% of the value of this series. This equals $31.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

Invesco Global Real Estate Fund - Series PTF

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.6%	September 30, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,126
Worst return	-21.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $786

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,205. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.88%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential and income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want to invest in global real estate securities
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 1.18% of the value of this series. This equals $11.80 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,109
Worst return	-11.6%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $884

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,513. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.23%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.95% of the value of this series. This equals $9.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.35% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.35% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.75% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.75% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio - Series T4

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.6%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,106
Worst return	-11.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $882

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,374. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.23%.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 1.98% of the value of this series. This equals $19.80 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.35% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.35% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.75% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.75% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,105
Worst return	-11.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $882

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,369. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.19%.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio Class - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIAs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.01% of the value of this series. This equals $20.10 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.35% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.35% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.75% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.75% after four years.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio Class - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F4 shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F4 were 0.95% of the value of this series. This equals $9.50 for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,108
Worst return	-11.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $883

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,506. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.18%.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.6%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,106
Worst return	-11.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $882

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,402. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.44%.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio Class - Series PT4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT4 were 1.79% of the value of this series. This equals $17.90 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.35% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.35% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.75% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.75% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.6%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,106
Worst return	-11.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $882

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,384. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.30%.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio Class - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 1.91% of the value of this series. This equals $19.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	1.84%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.07%
Fund expenses	1.91%

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.35% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.35% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.75% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.75% after four years.

Invesco Diversified Income Portfolio Class - Series T4

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,424. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.60%.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.23% of the value of this series. This equals $22.30 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.1%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,111
Worst return	-12.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $873

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,596. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.78%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.96% of the value of this series. This equals $9.60 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,108
Worst return	-12.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $871

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,440. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.72%.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio - Series P

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.15% of the value of this series. This equals $21.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.7%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,107
Worst return	-12.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $871

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,419. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.56%.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio Class - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSA, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.24% of the value of this series. This equals $22.40 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.1%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,111
Worst return	-12.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $873

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,592. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.76%.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio Class - Series F4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series F4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSA, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F4 shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F4 were 0.96% of the value of this series. This equals $9.60 for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,108
Worst return	-12.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $871

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,432. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.66%.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio Class - Series PT4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSA's, FHSA's, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT4 were 2.25% of the value of this series. This equals $22.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.7%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,107
Worst return	-12.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $871

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,409. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.49%.

Invesco Balanced Income Portfolio Class - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio to achieve both income and capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.29% of the value of this series. This equals $22.90 for every $1,000 invested.

		Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER)
This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.		2.21%

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

2. Fund expenses (continued)

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,118
Worst return	-16.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $840

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,572. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.63%.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.38% of the value of this series. This equals $23.80 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series P

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,119
Worst return	-15.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $841

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,609. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.87%.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series P

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.16% of the value of this series. This equals $21.60 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,118
Worst return	-16.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $840

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,570. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.61%.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series T6

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.45% of the value of this series. This equals $24.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series T8

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,119
Worst return	-16.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $840

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,580. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.68%.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.2%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,122
Worst return	-15.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $843

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,781. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.94%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSA, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series F

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.00% of the value of this series. This equals $10.00 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series PT4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past eight years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past eight years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the eight years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past eight years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,119
Worst return	-15.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $841

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT4 shares of the Fund at its inception now has $1,396. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.20%.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series PT4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSA, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT4 were 2.32% of the value of this series. This equals $23.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT8 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT8 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT8 were 2.31% of the value of this series. This equals $23.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT8 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,118
Worst return	-15.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $841

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,567. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.59%.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

- Investors who:
- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
 - Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
 - Are looking for a well-diversified investment
 - Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSA, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class^{*} - Series T8

^{*}Part of Invesco Corporate Class Inc.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,118
Worst return	-16.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $840

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,573. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.64%.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series T8

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio with an emphasis on capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFASs, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.36% of the value of this series. This equals $23.60 for every $1,000 invested.

		Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

We will switch your Series T8 shares into Series PT8 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T8 to Series PT8 is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT8, we will switch your shares back into Series T8 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Invesco Balanced Growth Portfolio Class - Series T8

2. Fund expenses (continued)

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Growth Portfolio - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,133
Worst return	-18.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $811

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,971. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.02%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.01% of the value of this series. This equals $10.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

Invesco Growth Portfolio - Series T4

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Growth Portfolio (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Growth Portfolio - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,129
Worst return	-19.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $808

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,725. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.60%.

Invesco Growth Portfolio - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.48% of the value of this series. This equals $24.80 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.40%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.08%
Fund expenses	2.48%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Growth Portfolio - Series T4

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Invesco Growth Portfolio Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,129
Worst return	-19.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $809

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,738. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.69%.

Invesco Growth Portfolio Class - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAAs, FHSAAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.38% of the value of this series. This equals $23.80 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Growth Portfolio Class - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Growth Portfolio Class - Series PT4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past eight years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past eight years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the eight years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past eight years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,129
Worst return	-19.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $809

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT4 shares of the Fund at its inception now has $1,496. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.09%.

Invesco Growth Portfolio Class - Series PT4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT4 were 2.30% of the value of this series. This equals $23.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	2.22%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.08%
Fund expenses	2.30%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,129
Worst return	-19.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $809

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,719. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.56%.

Invesco Growth Portfolio Class - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.50% of the value of this series. This equals $25.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	2.42%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.08%
Fund expenses	2.50%

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

2. Fund expenses (continued)

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio - Series A

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.2%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,142
Worst return	-22.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $776

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,853. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.36%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio - Series A

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.52% of the value of this series. This equals $25.20 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio - Series P

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,143
Worst return	-22.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $777

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,904. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.65%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio - Series P

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 2.26% of the value of this series. This equals $22.60 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.45% of the value of this series. This equals $24.50 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio Class - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,145
Worst return	-22.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $780

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,113. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.77%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSA, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On November 3, 2023, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.2%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,142
Worst return	-22.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $778

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,901. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.64%.

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio Class - Series PT6

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series PT6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT6 were 2.28% of the value of this series. This equals $22.80 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	2.21%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.07%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Maximum Growth Portfolio Class - Series PT6

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital appreciation over the long term
- Are willing to accept some fluctuations in the value of the portfolio over the short-to-medium term
- Are looking for a well-diversified investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is most appropriate for investors who want an investment for a non-registered account. It may not be suitable for investors who want an investment for a registered plan (e.g. RRSPs, RRIFFs, LIFs, LIRAs, LRIFs, PRIFs, LRSPs, RDSPs, RESPs, TFSAs, FHSAs, RLSPs and RLIFs).

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests in a diversified mix of exchange-traded funds and/or mutual funds. These ETFs and mutual funds invest primarily in fixed-income and/or other debt securities. For additional diversification and growth potential, the Fund also invests, to a lesser degree, in ETFs and mutual funds that invest primarily in equity securities. The Fund uses strategic asset allocation to allocate assets among ETFs and/or mutual funds. The strategic asset allocation is currently 30% equities and 70% fixed-income. It is expected that a substantial majority of the Fund's holdings will be ETFs rather than actively managed funds.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past eight years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past eight years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the eight years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past eight years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	7.9%	December 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,079
Worst return	-7.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $923

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,219. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.45%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well diversified investment with exposure to multiple asset classes in a single portfolio
- Want exposure to lower cost passive and factor-based ETFs
- Are comfortable with low risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.78% of the value of this series. This equals $17.80 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.72%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.06%
Fund expenses	1.78%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests in a diversified mix of exchange-traded funds and/or mutual funds. These ETFs and mutual funds invest primarily in fixed-income and/or other debt securities. For additional diversification and growth potential, the Fund also invests, to a lesser degree, in ETFs and mutual funds that invest primarily in equity securities. The Fund uses strategic asset allocation to allocate assets among ETFs and/or mutual funds. The strategic asset allocation is currently 30% equities and 70% fixed-income. It is expected that a substantial majority of the Fund's holdings will be ETFs rather than actively managed funds.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Balanced ETF Portfolio - Series A

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past eight years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past eight years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the eight years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past eight years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	8.6%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,086
Worst return	-13.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $862

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,543. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.45%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a balanced portfolio that will emphasize capital appreciation over the long term
- Are looking for a well diversified investment with exposure to multiple asset classes in a single portfolio
- Want exposure to lower cost passive and factor-based ETFs
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

Invesco Balanced ETF Portfolio - Series A

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.90% of the value of this series. This equals $19.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.80%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.10%
Fund expenses	1.90%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Invesco Growth ETF Portfolio - Series A

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past eight years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past eight years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the eight years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past eight years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.2%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,102
Worst return	-16.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $836

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,685. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.59%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate capital appreciation and modest income over the long term
- Are looking for a well diversified investment with exposure to multiple asset classes in a single portfolio
- Want exposure to lower cost passive and factor-based ETFs
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

Invesco Growth ETF Portfolio - Series A

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.93% of the value of this series. This equals $19.30 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.82%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.11%
Fund expenses	1.93%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco Managed Futures Fund - Series F

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Managed Futures Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Effective January 31, 2025, the annual management and advisory fee for the Series F units of the Fund was reduced from 1.00% to 0.85%. If this fee reduction had been reflected in the MER listed below, the MER would have been lower. This Fund is an alternative mutual fund. It has the ability to invest in asset classes or use investment strategies that are not permitted for conventional mutual funds. The specific strategies that differentiate this Fund from conventional mutual funds include: increased exposure to commodities and use of derivatives for hedging and non-hedging purposes. While these strategies will be used in accordance with the Fund's investment objectives and strategies, during certain market conditions they may accelerate the pace at which your investment decreases in value.

What does the Fund invest in?

The Fund invests primarily in long and short positions in a diversified portfolio of futures contracts, forward contracts and other derivatives that provide exposure to equity securities, fixed income securities, commodities and currencies located anywhere in the world. The Fund utilizes a quantitative proprietary model to identify investment opportunities based on market trends and historical relationships.

The Fund will use leverage through the use of derivatives, short selling or borrowing. The Fund shall not exceed an Absolute VAR (value-at-risk) of 20% of its net asset value.

The charts below give you a snapshot of the Fund's investments on November 30, 2025. The Fund's investments will change. Futures contract positions will be reflected as (i) the maximum exposure to the underlying interest of that derivative for the purpose of determining the Fund's top 10 investments, and (ii) unrealized gains or losses for the purpose of determining the Fund's investment mix. The Fund's holdings in Canadian Treasury bills, Canadian Dollar Cash Management Fund, cash and cash equivalents are used as, or otherwise available to be used as, collateral to support the Fund's derivatives positions.

Invesco Managed Futures Fund - Series F

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past three years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past three years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the three years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On January 31, 2025, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past three years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	7.2%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,072
Worst return	-12.3%	April 30, 2025	Your investment would drop to $877

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund when it became available to the public now has $996. This works out to an annual compound return of -0.12%.

Invesco Managed Futures Fund - Series F

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Are seeking an alternative mutual fund with a low correlation to traditional financial market indices
- Are looking for an investment designed to identify and take advantage of price trends (both up and down) across various equities, bonds, commodities and currencies
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.54% of the value of this series. This equals $15.40 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee and operating expenses.	1.27%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.27%

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.
