Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Canadian Dollar Cash Management Fund - Corporate Series

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Corporate Series units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Corporate Series units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Corporate Series units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	1.2%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,012
Worst return	0.0%	May 31, 2021	Your investment would remain the same

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Corporate Series units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,200. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.84%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a secure and liquid short-term investment
- Are comfortable with low risk

This Fund is not eligible as an investment for registered plans.

Currently, only other Invesco Canada Funds and eligible institutional investors as we may determine from time to time can invest in this Fund.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live.

Keep in mind that since you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions will be included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Corporate Series units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Corporate Series units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Corporate Series were 0.27% of the value of this series. This equals $2.70 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 0.05% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $0.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Referral fee

Invesco Canada Ltd. may pay a referral fee to a third party that refers you to us. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the referral fee for this series of the Fund is 0.05% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $0.50 each year for every $1,000 invested. A referral fee will only be paid if no trailing commission is being paid.

3. Other fees

No other fees are associated with buying, holding, selling or switching Corporate Series units of the Fund.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Canadian Dollar Cash Management Fund - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	1.3%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,013
Worst return	0.0%	April 30, 2021	Your investment would remain the same

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,222. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.02%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a secure and liquid short-term investment
- Are comfortable with low risk

This Fund is not eligible as an investment for registered plans.

Currently, only other Invesco Canada Funds and eligible institutional investors as we may determine from time to time can invest in this Fund.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live.

Keep in mind that since you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions will be included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.00% of the value of this series. This equals $0.00 for every $1,000 invested.

Invesco Canada Money Market Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Canada Money Market Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Canada Money Market Fund - Series Default

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series Default units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series Default units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series Default units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	1.3%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,013
Worst return	0.0%	July 31, 2021	Your investment would remain the same

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series Default units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,210. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.92%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income over the short term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a secure short-term investment
- Are comfortable with low risk

Series Default units are not available for purchase. We may invest your money into Series Default units of the Fund as a "default" investment in certain circumstances as set out in the simplified prospectus.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series Default units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series Default units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series Default were 0.17% of the value of this series. This equals $1.70 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series Default units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series Default units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Switch fee	For switches from Series Default units of the Fund to another Invesco Canada Fund, your representative's firm may receive a switch fee or a sales commission for your switch, but not both. Where a switch fee is charged, your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Fund - Series A

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On July 27, 2018, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	5.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,054
Worst return	-3.6%	March 31, 2022	Your investment would drop to $964

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,216. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.97%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want current income
- Prefer a fund that provides a fixed-income investment
- Are looking to gain exposure to a short-term Canadian corporate bond portfolio
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with low risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

Invesco 1-5 Year Laddered Corporate Bond Index ETF

Fund - Series A

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.01% of the value of this series. This equals $10.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 0.50% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 8, 2018, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,103
Worst return	-8.9%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $911

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,177. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.64%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a fixed-income investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund - Series A

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.44% of the value of this series. This equals $14.40 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	1.43%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.01%
Fund expenses	1.44%

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. While there is no management and advisory fee reduction as between these two series, holding Series P units allows you to enjoy other potential benefits as set out in the Fund's simplified prospectus. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.20% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.20% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.50% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.50% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On June 8, 2018, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.6%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,106
Worst return	-8.6%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $914

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,345. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.01%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a fixed-income investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.01% of the value of this series. This equals $0.10 for every $1,000 invested.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund - Series P

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.20% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.20% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.50% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.50% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco ESG Canadian Core Plus Bond ETF Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 30, 2020, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.3%	December 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,093
Worst return	-8.9%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $911

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,156. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.46%.

Invesco ESG Canadian Core Plus Bond ETF Fund - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a fixed-income investment that takes environmental, social and governance (ESG) characteristics into account
- Are comfortable with low risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.12% of the value of this series. This equals $11.20 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.10%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.02%
Fund expenses	1.12%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 0.50% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco ESG Canadian Core Plus Bond ETF Fund - Series F6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F6 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F6 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 30, 2020, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F6 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.5%	December 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,095
Worst return	-8.8%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $912

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,228. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.07%.

Invesco ESG Canadian Core Plus Bond ETF Fund - Series F6

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Want a fixed-income investment that takes environmental, social and governance (ESG) characteristics into account
- Are comfortable with low risk

Series F6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F6 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F6 units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F6 were 0.51% of the value of this series. This equals $5.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F6 units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

- Want a fixed-income investment that takes environmental, social and governance (ESG) characteristics into account
- Are comfortable with low risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 1.11% of the value of this series. This equals $11.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.09%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.02%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 0.50% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco ESG Canadian Core Plus Bond ETF Fund - Series T6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 30, 2020, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.3%	December 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,093
Worst return	-8.9%	April 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $911

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,154. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.44%.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Floating Rate Income Fund - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	8.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,089
Worst return	-14.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $858

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,468. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.91%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an income stream that is linked to interest-rate changes
- Are looking to diversify a core fixed-income portfolio
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with low risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.91% of the value of this series. This equals $9.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco Floating Rate Income Fund - Series PTF

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	8.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,089
Worst return	-14.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $858

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,521. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.28%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an income stream that is linked to interest-rate changes
- Are looking to diversify a core fixed-income portfolio
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with low risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.90% of the value of this series. This equals $9.00 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.62% of the value of this series. This equals $16.20 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

Fund expenses	1.62%

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.20% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.20% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.50% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.50% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

- Are comfortable with low risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco Global Bond Fund - Series F4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F4 units of the Fund have performed over the past seven years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past seven years. The Fund dropped in value in one of the seven years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past seven years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	7.8%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,078
Worst return	-6.5%	June 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $935

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F4 units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,193. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.36%.

Invesco Global Bond Fund - Series P

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series P units of the Fund have performed over the past nine years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series P units of the Fund performed in each of the past nine years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the nine years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series P units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past nine years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	7.6%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,076
Worst return	-6.6%	June 30, 2022	Your investment would drop to $934

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series P units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,181. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.75%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking income and capital appreciation from exposure to global fixed-income securities
- Are comfortable with a fund that invests primarily in global investment-grade securities
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with low risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Bond Fund - Series P

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series P units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series P units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series P were 1.33% of the value of this series. This equals $13.30 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.32%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.01%
Fund expenses	1.33%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.20% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.20% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.50% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.50% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco Unconstrained Bond Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† The Fund's strategies were changed on November 5, 2024 and July 30, 2021. The Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed on July 27, 2018. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

‡ During the period a gain from tax refund proceeds was recognized to reflect expected tax recoveries attributable to the Fund. This positively impacted the performance of this series of the Fund and is not expected to persist.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	8.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,083
Worst return	-10.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $896

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,235. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.13%.

Invesco Unconstrained Bond Fund - Series A

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Seek return via exposure to a portfolio of credit-related debt securities from issuers worldwide
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.47% of the value of this series. This equals $14.70 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.20% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.50% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.20% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $2.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.50% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.50% after four years.

Invesco Unconstrained Bond Fund - Series A

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† The Fund's strategies were changed on November 5, 2024 and July 30, 2021. The Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed on July 27, 2018. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to these dates would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	8.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,084
Worst return	-10.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $897

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,288. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.56%.

Invesco Unconstrained Bond Fund - Series PTF

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want steady income
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Seek return via exposure to a portfolio of credit-related debt securities from issuers worldwide
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.88% of the value of this series. This equals $8.80 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.4%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,134
Worst return	-14.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $856

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,045. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.41%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a combination of the growth potential of equities and the stability of fixed-income investments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund may not be appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.94% of the value of this series. This equals $9.40 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Fund - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.0%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,130
Worst return	-14.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $853

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,787. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.98%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a combination of the growth potential of equities and the stability of fixed-income investments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Fund - Series T4

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.57% of the value of this series. This equals $25.70 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.52%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.05%
Fund expenses	2.57%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Fund - Series T6

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Fund - Series T8

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.71% of the value of this series. This equals $27.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	11.9%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,119
Worst return	-16.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $836

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,813. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.13%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a combination of the growth potential of equities and the stability of fixed-income investments
- Want a core Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Canadian Premier Balanced Class - Series I

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,125
Worst return	-15.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $841

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,311. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.74%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want a combination of the growth potential of equities and the stability of fixed-income investments
- Want a core Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.05% of the value of this series. This equals $0.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 1.90%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ^{1,3} of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years. ³ For the Capped Deferred Sales Charge option, 0.75% for years one to six and 1.00% after six years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.0%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,130
Worst return	-17.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $827

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,844. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.31%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Diversified Yield Class - Series A

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	- You and your representative decide on the rate - The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.63% of the value of this series. This equals $26.30 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,135
Worst return	-17.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $830

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,155. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.98%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.7%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,137
Worst return	-16.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $832

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,419. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.23%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Diversified Yield Class - Series I

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.02% of the value of this series. This equals $0.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Best return	13.2%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,132
Worst return	-17.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $828

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,941. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.86%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT4 were 2.08% of the value of this series. This equals $20.80 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† During the period a gain from tax refund proceeds was recognized to reflect expected tax recoveries attributable to the Fund. This positively impacted the performance of this series of the Fund and is not expected to persist.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.2%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,132
Worst return	-17.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $828

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,948. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.90%.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,135
Worst return	-16.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $831

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,196. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.18%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.81% of the value of this series. This equals $8.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.1%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,131
Worst return	-17.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $827

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,865. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.43%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	- You and your representative decide on the rate - The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.57% of the value of this series. This equals $25.70 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series T6 shares into Series PT6 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T6 to Series PT6 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT6, we will switch your shares back into Series T6 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

Invesco Diversified Yield Class^{*} - Series T6CAP

^{*}Part of Invesco Corporate Class Inc.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Diversified Yield Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Series T6CAP shares of the Fund are currently closed to new investors. Only existing investors in Series ACAP, Series T4CAP, Series T6CAP or Series T8CAP shares of the Fund may continue to buy Series T6CAP shares of the Fund in an account that holds such shares. New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of another Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options and are an existing investor in Series ACAP, Series T4CAP, Series T6CAP or Series T8CAP shares of this Fund, you may make a permitted switch to Series T6CAP shares of this Fund under the same purchase option in an account that already holds Series ACAP, Series T4CAP, Series T6CAP or Series T8CAP shares of this Fund. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Invesco Canada Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6CAP shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6CAP shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6CAP shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.1%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,131
Worst return	-17.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $828

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6CAP shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,925. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.77%.

Invesco Diversified Yield Class - Series T6CAP

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want an investment fund that can utilize a broad range of investment vehicles that can benefit in a variety of market environments
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T6CAP shares of the Fund are currently closed to new investors. Only existing investors in Series ACAP, Series T4CAP, Series T6CAP or Series T8CAP shares of the Fund may continue to buy Series T6CAP shares of the Fund in an account that holds such shares.

Series T6CAP is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6CAP shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6CAP shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6CAP were 2.19% of the value of this series. This equals $21.90 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.35% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	0.75% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $7.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.35% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $3.50 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 0.75% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 0.75% after four years.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Global Balanced ESG ETF Fund - Series A

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past three years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past three years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past three years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.7%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,097
Worst return	-4.2%	October 31, 2023	Your investment would drop to $958

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,415. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.88%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Want an investment that employs environmental, social and governance (ESG) oriented investment strategies as part of their fundamental investment objectives
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

Invesco Global Balanced ESG ETF Fund - Series A

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 1.83% of the value of this series. This equals $18.30 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.69%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.14%
Fund expenses	1.83%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

Invesco Global Balanced ESG ETF Fund - Series PTF

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Balanced ESG ETF Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past three years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past three years. The Fund's value did not drop in any of these years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past three years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	10.1%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,101
Worst return	-3.9%	October 31, 2023	Your investment would drop to $961

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,487. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.37%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Want an investment that employs environmental, social and governance (ESG) oriented investment strategies as part of their fundamental investment objectives
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.65% of the value of this series. This equals $6.50 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series F

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.94% of the value of this series. This equals $9.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series H

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series H units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series H units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series H units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.5%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,155
Worst return	-25.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $750

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series H units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,090. This works out to an annual compound return of 0.87%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series H units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series M

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series M units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series M units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series M units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.6%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,146
Worst return	-22.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $780

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series M units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,177. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.64%.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series M

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Investors who wish to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar should invest in Series H securities of this Fund.

Series M units of the Fund are currently closed to new investors. Only existing investors in Series M units of the Fund may continue to buy Series M units of the Fund in an account that already holds such units.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series M units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series M units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series M were 2.13% of the value of this series. This equals $21.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 0.50% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series M units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series O units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	For individual investors, your representative's firm may charge you an annual investment advisory fee, which you negotiate with your representative. This fee is paid by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund. If one of the 0.25%, 0.50%, 0.75% or 1.00% purchase options is selected, the investment advisory fee is that which is reflected by the purchase option. The purchase option selected is determined by you and your representative. We have also included a purchase option that does not provide for a default fee if you and your representative wish to negotiate a different fee. If that purchase option is selected, then we will collect a fee of up to 1.50% on your behalf and remit that fee to your representative's firm. If that purchase option is selected and we do not receive any documentation, then we will not redeem units and we will assume that your representative's firm will either (i) not charge a fee or (ii) charge you directly. No investment advisory fee is payable by institutional investors.
Management and advisory fee	Investors pay the management and advisory fee for Series O units directly. The annual management and advisory fees are as follows: 0.85% on the first $500,000 of assets; 0.75% on assets between $500,000 and $1,000,000; 0.70% on assets between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000; and 0.65% on assets in excess of $5,000,000. Certain institutional and ultra-high net worth investors may negotiate the management and advisory fees for Series O units.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series T4

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Balanced Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.4%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,144
Worst return	-22.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $779

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,139. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.31%.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.42% of the value of this series. This equals $24.20 for every $1,000 invested.

Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.4%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,144
Worst return	-22.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $779

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,133. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.26%.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series T8

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.54% of the value of this series. This equals $25.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Balanced Fund - Series T8

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Balanced Class (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.90% of the value of this series. This equals $9.00 for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series FH

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium. This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series FH shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series FH shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series FH shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.1%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,161
Worst return	-24.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $753

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series FH shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,258. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.32%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.0%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,150
Worst return	-21.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $781

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,312. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.76%.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series F6

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series F6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F6 shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F6 were 0.85% of the value of this series. This equals $8.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F6 shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

We will switch your Series H shares into Series PH shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000, and if your Series H shares are held within a registered account. The annual fee decrease from Series H to Series PH is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PH, we will switch your shares back into Series H shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series PH

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PH shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PH shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PH shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.7%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,157
Worst return	-24.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $751

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PH shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,134. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.26%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk
- Want to gain exposure to foreign investments but wish to minimize exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency relative to the Canadian dollar

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series PH

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PH shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PH shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PH were 2.24% of the value of this series. This equals $22.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PH shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.6%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,146
Worst return	-22.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $780

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,163. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.52%.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series PT4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT4 shares of the Fund.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series PT6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.6%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,146
Worst return	-22.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $780

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,159. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.49%.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series PT6

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT6 were 2.34% of the value of this series. This equals $23.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series PT6

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series T4

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T4 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T4 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T4 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.5%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,145
Worst return	-22.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $779

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T4 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,119. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.13%.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series T4

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T4 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T4 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T4 shares of the Fund.

	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T4 were 2.73% of the value of this series. This equals $27.30 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this series of the Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On October 15, 2020, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of the Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.5%	March 31, 2023	Your investment would rise to $1,145
Worst return	-22.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $778

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,115. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.09%.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series T8

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.73% of the value of this series. This equals $27.30 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series T8 shares into Series PT8 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T8 to Series PT8 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT8, we will switch your shares back into Series T8 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

Invesco Global Balanced Class - Series T8

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Global Diversified Income Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Global Diversified Income Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past nine years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,135
Worst return	-17.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $830

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,773. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.15%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking regular monthly income
- Are seeking growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.97% of the value of this series. This equals $9.70 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Invesco Global Diversified Income Fund - Series I

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past nine years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past nine years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the nine years. Invesco Global Diversified Income Fund - Series PTF

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money. One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF units of the Fund have performed over the past nine years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF units of the Fund performed in each of the past nine years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the nine years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past nine years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.5%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,135
Worst return	-17.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $830

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF units of the Fund at its inception now has $1,806. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.35%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking regular monthly income
- Are seeking growth and income over the mid to long term
- Want a diversified global balanced investment
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.85% of the value of this series. This equals $8.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of units in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Income Growth Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Income Growth Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.60% of the value of this series. This equals $26.00 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Income Growth Fund - Series I

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Income Growth Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	13.0%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,130
Worst return	-17.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $822

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,349. This works out to an annual compound return of 8.91%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the medium to long term
- Want a diversified Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.02% of the value of this series. This equals $0.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 1.50%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	For individual investors, your representative's firm may charge you an annual investment advisory fee, which you negotiate with your representative. This fee is paid by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund. If one of the 0.25%, 0.50%, 0.75% or 1.00% purchase options is selected, the investment advisory fee is that which is reflected by the purchase option. The purchase option selected is determined by you and your representative. We have also included a purchase option that does not provide for a default fee if you and your representative wish to negotiate a different fee. If that purchase option is selected, then we will collect a fee of up to 1.50% on your behalf and remit that fee to your representative's firm. If that purchase option is selected and we do not receive any documentation, then we will not redeem units and we will assume that your representative's firm will either (i) not charge a fee or (ii) charge you directly. No investment advisory fee is payable by institutional investors.
Management and advisory fee	Investors pay the management and advisory fee for Series O units directly. The annual management and advisory fees are as follows: 0.85% on the first $500,000 of assets; 0.75% on assets between $500,000 and $1,000,000; 0.70% on assets between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000; and 0.65% on assets in excess of $5,000,000. Certain institutional and ultra-high net worth investors may negotiate the management and advisory fees for Series O units.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series P units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.

Invesco Income Growth Fund - Series SC

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series SC units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series SC units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series SC units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.5%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,125
Worst return	-18.2%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $818

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series SC units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,955. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.93%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the medium to long term
- Want a diversified Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series SC units of the Fund are currently closed to new investors. Only existing investors in Series SC units of the Fund may continue to buy Series SC units of the Fund in an account that already holds such units.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series SC units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series SC units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series SC were 1.91% of the value of this series. This equals $19.10 for every $1,000 invested.

Invesco Income Growth Fund - Series T6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	12.3%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,123
Worst return	-18.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $817

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,859. This works out to an annual compound return of 6.40%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the medium to long term
- Want a diversified Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.39% of the value of this series. This equals $23.90 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.37%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.02%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Income Growth Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Monthly Income ETF Portfolio - Series F

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Monthly Income ETF Portfolio (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Monthly Income ETF Portfolio - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On January 19, 2018, the Fund's investment strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	8.6%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,086
Worst return	-12.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $880

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,678. This works out to an annual compound return of 5.32%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and modest capital growth over the long term
- Are looking for a well-diversified core high-income fund that focuses on fixed-income securities and high-yielding equity securities
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.61% of the value of this series. This equals $6.10 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 1.75% of the value of this series. This equals $17.50 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	1.68%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.07%
Fund expenses	1.75%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Invesco Select Balanced Fund - Series A

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Select Balanced Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Select Balanced Fund - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.2%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,142
Worst return	-18.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $812

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,109. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.75%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the medium to long term
- Want a diversified Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.

Invesco Select Balanced Fund - Series I

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.9%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,149
Worst return	-18.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $817

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,709. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.48%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the medium to long term
- Want a diversified Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.03% of the value of this series. This equals $0.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Select Balanced Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Select Balanced Fund - Series T6

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Select Balanced Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Select Balanced Fund - Series T6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	14.2%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,142
Worst return	-18.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $812

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,139. This works out to an annual compound return of 7.90%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth and income over the medium to long term
- Want a diversified Canadian balanced investment
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Select Balanced Fund - Series T6

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.48% of the value of this series. This equals $24.80 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER) This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses.	2.45%
Trading expense ratio (TER) This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.03%
Fund expenses	2.48%

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.1%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,091
Worst return	-14.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $857

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,322. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.83%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking an income-oriented investment that can utilize a broad range of yield-producing asset classes
- Want an investment that will shift allocations based on market conditions
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

We will switch your Series A units into Series P units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your units back into Series A units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.5%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,095
Worst return	-14.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $859

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,492. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.08%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking an income-oriented investment that can utilize a broad range of yield-producing asset classes
- Want an investment that will shift allocations based on market conditions
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 0.95% of the value of this series. This equals $9.50 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series I

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.6%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,096
Worst return	-14.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $860

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,573. This works out to an annual compound return of 4.64%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking an income-oriented investment that can utilize a broad range of yield-producing asset classes
- Want an investment that will shift allocations based on market conditions
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I units directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.08% of the value of this series. This equals $0.80 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I units directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 1.75%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Strategic Yield Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series PT6

This document contains key information you should know about Invesco Strategic Yield Fund (the "Fund"). You can find more detailed information in the Fund's simplified prospectus. For a copy, ask your representative, contact Invesco Canada Ltd. at 1.800.874.6275 or inquiriescanada@invesco.com, or visit our website at invesco.com/ca.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series PT6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT6 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.1%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,091
Worst return	-14.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $857

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,348. This works out to an annual compound return of 3.03%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking an income-oriented investment that can utilize a broad range of yield-producing asset classes
- Want an investment that will shift allocations based on market conditions
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series PT6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series PT6

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT6 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT6 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT6 were 2.14% of the value of this series. This equals $21.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series T6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T6 units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T6 units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T6 units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.1%	January 31, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,091
Worst return	-14.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $856

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T6 units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $1,316. This works out to an annual compound return of 2.78%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Are seeking an income-oriented investment that can utilize a broad range of yield-producing asset classes
- Want an investment that will shift allocations based on market conditions
- Are comfortable with low to medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Strategic Yield Fund - Series T6

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.30% of the value of this series. This equals $23.00 for every $1,000 invested.

		Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)
Management expense ratio (MER)	This is the total of the Fund's management fee (which includes the trailing commission) and operating expenses. Invesco Canada Ltd. waived some of the Fund's expenses. If it had not done so, the MER would have been higher.	2.22%
Trading expense ratio (TER)	This is the Fund's trading costs.	0.08%
Fund expenses		2.30%

We will switch your Series T6 units into Series PT6 units of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T6 to Series PT6 is 0.10%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT6, we will switch your units back into Series T6 units. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T6 units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in three of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

† On July 27, 2018, the Fund's investment objectives and strategies were changed. The performance of this Fund for the period prior to this date would have been different had the current investment objectives and strategies been in place during that period.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	15.1%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,151
Worst return	-22.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $773

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,805. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.86%.

Invesco Canadian Dividend Index ETF Class - Series I

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want to generate income and capital growth over the long term
- Are looking for a core Canadian equity fund that focuses on dividend-paying companies
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.01% of the value of this series. This equals $0.10 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 1.50%.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Best return	16.9%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,169
Worst return	-24.4%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $756

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,884. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.17%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.12% of the value of this series. This equals $11.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Canadian Fund - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	For individual investors, your representative's firm may charge you an annual investment advisory fee, which you negotiate with your representative. This fee is paid by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund. If one of the 0.25%, 0.50%, 0.75% or 1.00% purchase options is selected, the investment advisory fee is that which is reflected by the purchase option. The purchase option selected is determined by you and your representative. We have also included a purchase option that does not provide for a default fee if you and your representative wish to negotiate a different fee. If that purchase option is selected, then we will collect a fee of up to 1.50% on your behalf and remit that fee to your representative's firm. If that purchase option is selected and we do not receive any documentation, then we will not redeem units and we will assume that your representative's firm will either (i) not charge a fee or (ii) charge you directly. No investment advisory fee is payable by institutional investors.
Management and advisory fee	Investors pay the management and advisory fee for Series O units directly. The annual management and advisory fees are as follows: 0.85% on the first $500,000 of assets; 0.75% on assets between $500,000 and $1,000,000; 0.70% on assets between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000; and 0.65% on assets in excess of $5,000,000. Certain institutional and ultra-high net worth investors may negotiate the management and advisory fees for Series O units.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series SC units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series SC units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series SC units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.7%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,167
Worst return	-24.5%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $755

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series SC units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,689. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.40%.

Invesco Canadian Fund - Series SC

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series SC units of the Fund are currently closed to new investors. Only existing investors in Series SC units of the Fund may continue to buy Series SC units of the Fund in an account that already holds such units.

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series SC units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series SC units of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of June 30, 2025, the expenses of Series SC were 1.94% of the value of this series. This equals $19.40 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate of the trailing commission for this series of the Fund is 0.30% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $3.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series SC units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the units you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Canadian Class - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.4%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,174
Worst return	-24.1%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $759

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,239. This works out to an annual compound return of 12.47%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want strong capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.02% of the value of this series. This equals $0.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T4 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Canadian Plus Dividend Class - Series A

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series A shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series A shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series A shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.7%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,177
Worst return	-28.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $720

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series A shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,531. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.73%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Canadian Plus Dividend Class - Series A

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series A shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series A shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	- You and your representative decide on the rate - The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series A were 2.63% of the value of this series. This equals $26.30 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco Canadian Plus Dividend Class - Series I

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series I shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series I shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series I shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	18.5%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,185
Worst return	-27.5%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $725

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series I shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,272. This works out to an annual compound return of 12.59%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series I shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series I shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns. Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fees for Series I shares directly. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays all operating expenses.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series I were 0.03% of the value of this series. This equals $0.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series I shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series I shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Management and advisory fee	Investors negotiate and pay the management and advisory fee for Series I shares directly. The maximum annual management and advisory fee that may be payable to Invesco Canada Ltd. is 2.00%.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,
- or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Canadian Plus Dividend Class - Series PT6

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PT6 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PT6 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PT6 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.9%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,179
Worst return	-27.9%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $721

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PT6 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,638. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.19%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series PT6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions. The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PT6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PT6 were 2.22% of the value of this series. This equals $22.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PT6 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	18.3%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,183
Worst return	-27.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $723

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $3,025. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.70%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

We will switch your Series T4 shares into Series PT4 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T4 to Series PT4 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT4, we will switch your shares back into Series T4 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

Invesco Canadian Plus Dividend Class - Series T8

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series T8 shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series T8 shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series T8 shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	17.8%	January 31, 2021	Your investment would rise to $1,178
Worst return	-28.0%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $720

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series T8 shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,534. This works out to an annual compound return of 9.74%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Want capital growth over the long term
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T8 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions. The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

Invesco Canadian Plus Dividend Class - Series T8

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T8 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	- You and your representative decide on the rate - The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T8 were 2.68% of the value of this series. This equals $26.80 for every $1,000 invested.

We will switch your Series T8 shares into Series PT8 shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series T8 to Series PT8 is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series PT8, we will switch your shares back into Series T8 shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series T8 shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

New purchases under the Deferred Sales Charge option, Low Load option or Lower Load 4 option are no longer permitted. If you currently hold shares or units of an Invesco Canada Fund under any of these purchase options, you may make a permitted switch to the Fund under the same purchase option. In such circumstances, you will maintain the redemption fee schedule and rates outlined in the simplified prospectus offered in the year those other Fund shares or units were originally purchased.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco EQV Canadian Premier Equity Fund - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F units of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,163
Worst return	-20.3%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $797

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F units of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,747. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.63%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings and that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F units of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.22% of the value of this series. This equals $12.20 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F units of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F units of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of units in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the units you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of units in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such units. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

We will switch your Series A shares into Series P shares of the Fund, which have a lower annual management and advisory fee, once your investment amount in related Invesco accounts meets the Private Investor Series eligibility requirement of $100,000. The annual fee decrease from Series A to Series P is 0.15%. If you no longer meet the eligibility requirements for Series P, we will switch your shares back into Series A shares. See "Purchases, switches and redemptions" in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your representative for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Low Load	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Lower Load 4	0.50% ² of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.

¹ 1.00% after seven years for assets purchased between August 11, 2010 and May 27, 2022. ² 1.00% after four years.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series A shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Switch fee	Your representative's firm may charge you a fee of up to 2% of the value of the shares you switch to another Invesco Canada Fund. You and your representative negotiate the fee.

Notice: On January 13, 2026, Invesco Canada Ltd. (the "Manager") announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to sell the management agreements relating to its Canadian fund business to CI Investments Inc., operating as CI Global Asset Management ("CI GAM"). Under the terms of the agreement and subject to the receipt of all necessary consents and approvals, CI GAM will become the investment fund manager and portfolio manager of the Fund (the "Transaction").

The Transaction is subject to receipt of applicable regulatory approvals as well as satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. The change in manager of the Fund is subject to approval by securityholders of the Fund (collectively, "Securityholders"). The Manager has called a special meeting of Securityholders to consider the change of manager, which is expected to be held on or about April 13, 2026. Should the Fund not obtain the requisite Securityholder approval, the Fund will be terminated. Assuming satisfaction of all approvals and conditions, the Transaction is expected to close by the end of the second quarter of 2026.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Invesco EQV Canadian Premier Equity Class - Series F

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,163
Worst return	-20.8%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $792

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series F shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,751. This works out to an annual compound return of 10.65%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings and that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series F shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series F were 1.13% of the value of this series. This equals $11.30 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series F shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series F shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	If you hold this series of shares in a fee-based account at your representative's firm, your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative. Invesco Canada Ltd. may have an arrangement with your representative's firm to collect the investment advisory fee (plus any applicable taxes) from you on behalf of your representative's firm. Where such an arrangement exists, the maximum annual investment advisory fee that we will collect from you is 1.50% (excluding applicable taxes) and the fee (plus any applicable taxes) is collected by redeeming some of the shares you own of the Fund.
Fees for services	If you hold this series of shares in an account with a dealer that does not make a suitability determination, such as a discount broker, your dealer may charge you fees when you buy, switch, and/or redeem such shares. You should confirm these fees with your dealer.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

or

- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase or, in some jurisdictions, claim damages if the simplified prospectus, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities legislation in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge the risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility."

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Invesco Canada Ltd. has rated the volatility of this Fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

Low	Low to medium	Medium	Medium to high	High

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the What are the specific risks of investing in a mutual fund? section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this Fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the Fund performed?

This section tells you how Series PTF shares of the Fund have performed over the past 10 years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the Fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series PTF shares of the Fund performed in each of the past 10 years. The Fund dropped in value in two of the 10 years. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the Fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the Fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst three-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series PTF shares of the Fund in a three-month period over the past 10 years. The best and worst three-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	Three months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	16.3%	June 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,163
Worst return	-20.7%	March 31, 2020	Your investment would drop to $793

Average return

A person who invested $1,000 in Series PTF shares of the Fund 10 years ago now has $2,869. This works out to an annual compound return of 11.12%.

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings and that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Are comfortable with medium risk

The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series PTF shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges for Series PTF shares of the Fund.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series PTF were 0.86% of the value of this series. This equals $8.60 for every $1,000 invested.

	Annual rate (as a % of the Fund's value)

More about the trailing commission

Invesco Canada Ltd. does not pay trailing commissions in respect of Series PTF shares of the Fund.

3. Other fees

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch Series PTF shares of the Fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	If you redeem or switch within 30 days of purchase, Invesco Canada Ltd. reserves the right to charge, on behalf of the Fund, a short-term trading fee of 2% on top of any other fees that may apply.
Investment advisory fee	You may buy and hold this series of shares in an account where you pay for advice directly to your representative's firm (in whatever form agreed to between you and your representative's firm), rather than through Invesco Canada Ltd. (either directly or indirectly). Your representative's firm may charge you an investment advisory fee which you negotiate with your representative.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document,

Who is this Fund for?

Investors who:

- Seek long-term growth potential
- Own, or plan to own, other types of investments to diversify their holdings
- Are comfortable with a Canadian equity fund that may have substantial foreign holdings and that emphasizes companies with strong growth potential
- Are comfortable with medium risk

Series T6 is appropriate for investors who want to receive regular distributions. The Fund is not appropriate if you have a short-term investment horizon.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a registered retirement savings plan or a tax-free savings account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series T6 shares of the Fund. The fees and expenses, including any commissions, can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

You may pay a sales charge when you buy Series T6 shares of the Fund.

Sales charge option	What you pay		How it works
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	0% to 5% of the amount you pay	$0 to $50 on every $1,000 you pay	■ You and your representative decide on the rate ■ The initial sales charge is deducted from the amount you pay. It goes to your representative's firm as a commission

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the Fund's returns.

As of September 30, 2025, the expenses of Series T6 were 2.67% of the value of this series. This equals $26.70 for every $1,000 invested.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you. Invesco Canada Ltd. pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

Sales charge option	Amount of trailing commission
	In per cent (%)	In dollars ($)
Initial Sales Charge	1.00% of the value of your investment each year	This equals $10.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
Deferred Sales Charge	0.50% ¹ of the value of your investment each year	This equals $5.00 each year for every $1,000 invested.
